

CALLS N. Y. TO OPPOSE CITY PLAN

Believes weather Averting causes Of Aurora odors

It has been prophesied that Aurora's nuisance, the tannery odor, will have lost its usual strength this year. According to Gordon Hoffman, chairman of the special sanitation committee that was appointed to investigate the tannery odor, much of the unpleasant smell will have abated this year. Mr. Hoffman said that because of heavy spring rain and snowfalls the water in the creek is higher than it has been for a long time.

High water has also washed away a quantity of the sludge and if the rains continue, it will prevent large concentrations. Mr. Hoffman said that the improved conditions in the Collis Leather factory will also help to correct the odor problem. He said that since last summer, the factory has worked steadily to improve conditions. He pointed out that in the factory a sanitary brigade is keeping a constant check on the cleanliness of the building and giving it the constant attention it needs to keep the odor under control.

After complete investigation of the subject Mr. Hoffman feels that 80 percent of the odor can be eliminated if everyone cooperates. At present, the suggestion to have a special meeting concerning the odor is left in the hands of town council. The sanitation committee proposed that the council organize a meeting with town engineer Redfern present as well as a representative of the board of health and the Collis Leather Co. So far, other council activities have interfered with holding a meeting but it is expected the council will act on the matter as soon as possible. The Collis Leather Company has been investigating the problem and has spent time and money in the research. It has compared the Aurora situation with other towns and villages suffering the same problem.

Newmarket churches Celebrate Easter With special music

Churches in Newmarket were filled with the usual throngs of Easter worshippers on Sunday when choirs, both junior and senior, presented special Easter anthems. In many churches the evening service was given over entirely to music and reports from the various congregations show that the renditions by the soloists and choirs were exceptionally fine.

At Trinity United church, Jack Arlitt was trumpet soloist at the evening service when a choir of approximately 70 voices presented nine anthems in the annual Easter all-musical service. Mr. Arlitt's solo was "The Holy City." Choir director and organist is Herman Fowler, Mus. Bac. In the morning, the senior choir sang the Easter anthems, "Why Seek Ye the Living" and "Tis the Spring of Souls Today."

The Easter choral communion was held at St. Paul's Anglican church on Sunday morning with the choir providing the special Easter anthem, "Good Christian Men Rejoice and Sing" by C. A. Alington with music by Bullock.

The main Easter music at the Church of the Nazarene was presented on Wednesday evening, April 5, when the senior choir was heard in the Easter cantata, "Dawning Light" under the direction of Mr. J. Black. Guest soloist for that evening was Mr. Norman Barrington, Toronto, who contributed three solos to the program. Mr. Barrington brought his male quartet with him and they sang six selections.

On Sunday morning the Easter music was provided by the junior girls' trio, Norma Baker, Myrna Brice and Shirley Baker. Miss Margaret Hicks and Miss Marilyn Williams, Toronto, nieces of Mrs. Roy Langford, were heard in a vocal duet. Selections from the Easter cantata which had been presented on April 5 were sung at the evening service by the senior choir of the Church of the Nazarene.

The choir's anthem at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at the Easter morning service was "He is Risen" by Caleb Simper. Miss Blanche Bailey was the guest organist. In the evening the male quartet, W. M. Cockburn, Harold West, Milton Cook and Roy McDonald, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

The evening service on Easter Sunday at the Christian Baptist church was a complete musical service provided by the junior choir. It consisted of anthems, solos, duets and the double trio. Special Easter solos were sung by Marion Gibson, Lois Robinson, Mary Lou VanZant, Margaret Ann Crowder and David Winkworth. Soloists in the Easter anthems were Joan Curtis and Dorothy Broughton.

LIONS ARE TOLD:

60 cycle world's largest Hydro job

The conversion of 25 cycle power areas to 60 cycles was described on Monday night to the Newmarket Lions club as the biggest undertaking of its kind in the world. It will cost $191 million of which $170 million is being provided by the Ontario Hydro Commission and the remainder by municipalities.

It is estimated that the job will take ten years to complete. Mr. Dalton, public relations officer, was guest speaker at the club's regular meeting. "Some idea of the size of the job may be had from the fact that conversion is being done in an area with a population of two million and which is the most heavily industrialized area in Ontario. There are 1,800,000 motors to be converted, altogether some five million items to be changed," he said.

"Not only do we have to change motors but we have to re-adjust pulleys and gears as well because the 25-cycle motor is slower than the 60-cycle motor."

The conversion work is being handled by the Canadian Cement Co. and conversion work is going ahead in areas where 60-cycle power is most readily available. It is expected that Newmarket and Aurora conversion will be undertaken towards the end of the summer.

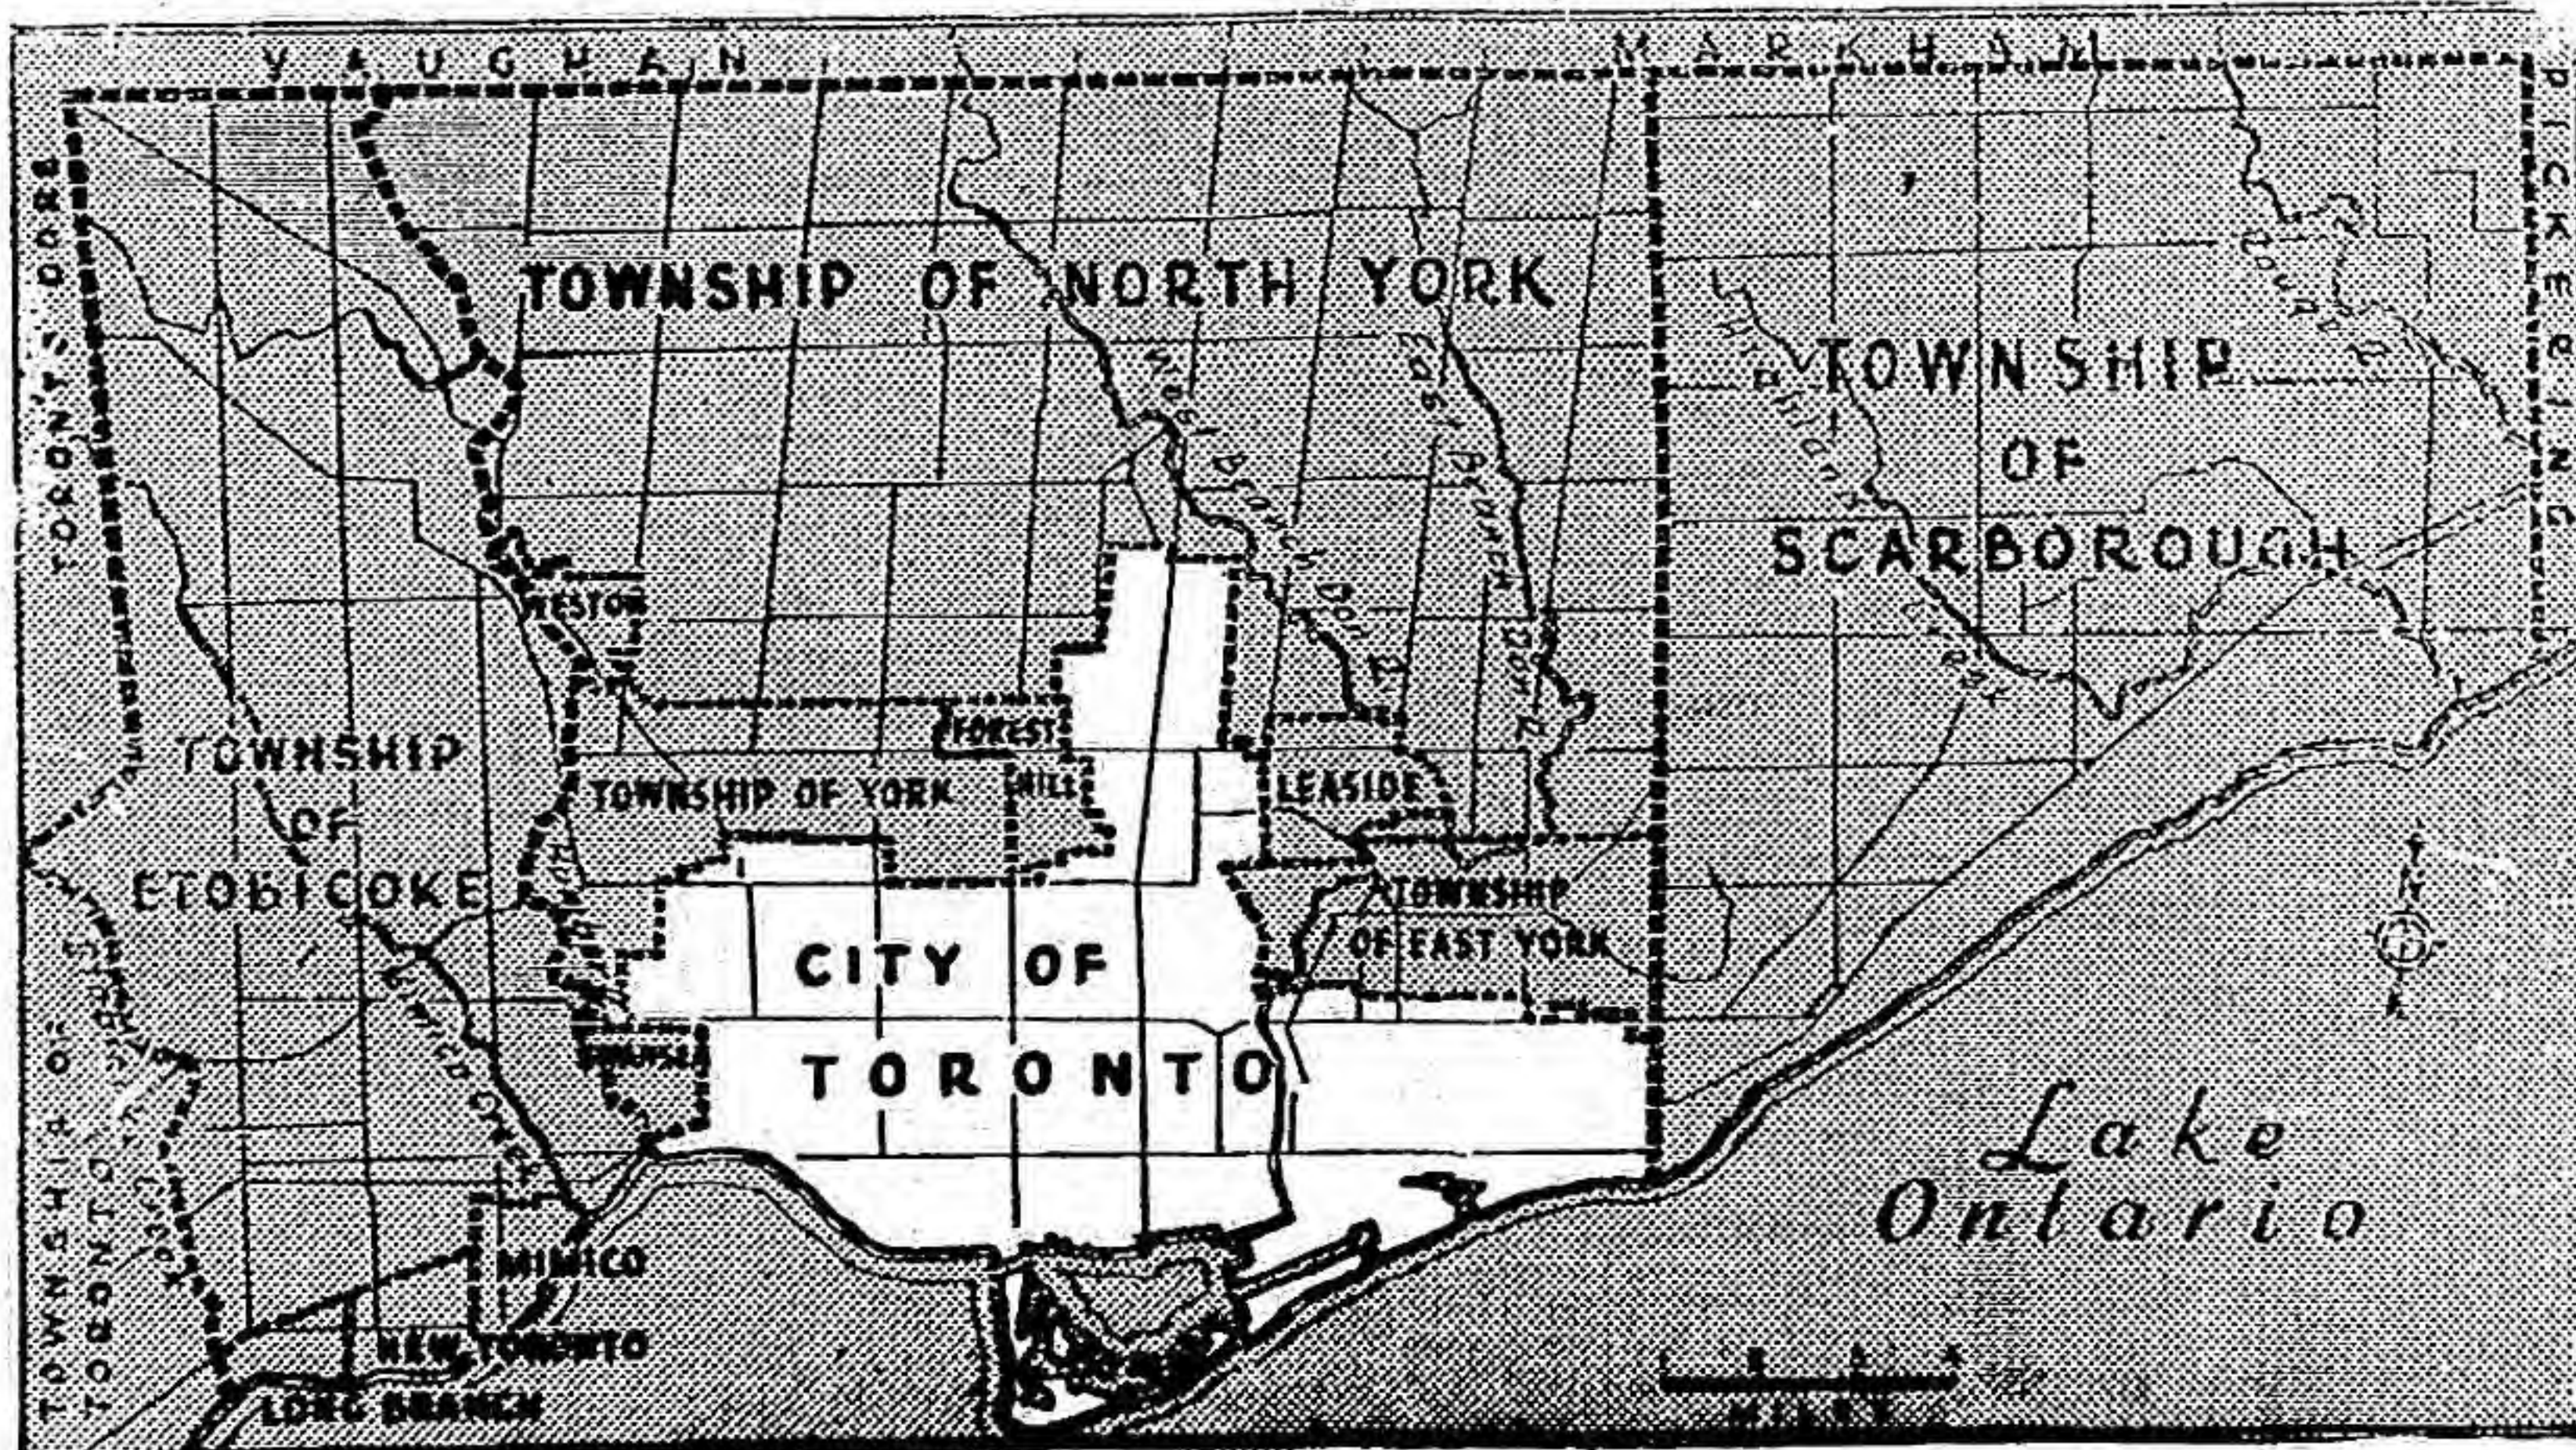

The conversion program is being undertaken in a methodical manner, Mr. Dalton explained. Each community is being inventoried and problems likely to arise are anticipated well in advance and their solutions figured out. A large research centre is maintained where new methods of conversion from 25-cycle to 60-cycle power are being constantly studied.

Prior to conversion day, an information booth will be set up in town and ample notice given. At a given time, the power will be cut off and conversion crews will enter homes where they will either make the conversion on the spot or else remove the motor and install a substitute.

Mr. Dalton made it clear that the hydro guarantees all the work entering into conversion. Some idea of the amount of work and planning which enters into the conversion of a municipality is shown by the fact that power will be off only an hour and a half for any given area.

THREAT FROM SOUTH WOULD AFFECT COUNTY ECONOMY

Toronto and suburban municipalities have inspired amalgamation proposals from all directions in the past months. The proposals have been reduced to two plans. Mayor McCallum of Toronto would have his city annex 11 municipalities and part of two others, taking in most of the area shown above. If such a proposal is followed, the county levies of the remaining municipalities would be, at the very least, doubled. Reeves and deputy-reeves of York county municipalities have indicated that they want a county metropolitan area plan to include Toronto within the county council. Final reports have come from a special committee of reeves and deputy-reeves, from a county fact finding committee and from the county's advisory information council. These reports point to the county metropolitan plan as the only logical solution to urban expansion. For a county report on the amalgamation proposals, see pages 4 and 5.

Lions have new star, Ang's role secret

The Newmarket Lions club Minstrel Show gained another recruit when Chester Best volunteered to appear in the show at the special request of the director, Alex Eves. Mr. Best said he would be there, by golly. His part is still something of a mystery as is the exact role of Ang. West but there is no doubt of the rib-splitting appeal of his performances last year and indications are that it will be even better this year.

As the minstrels launch into their final rehearsals, reserved seats on the four nightly performances are just about sold out although there are still rush tickets to be had.

The minstrels rehearse tonight in the town hall, again on Sunday afternoon with dress rehearsal on Monday night. The first performance is Tuesday night and they continue until Friday night.

Dr. Best to report On diabetes survey At H.S. open meeting

The results of the diabetes survey in Newmarket will be revealed by Dr. Best who has been the leading research scientist in diabetes. Dr. Best will speak at an open meeting of the Newmarket Home and School Association in the town hall Tuesday, April 25.

Dr. A. H. Chute who was directly in charge of the survey will also be present at the meeting. If time permits, Dr. Chute will show a movie about diabetic children.

Prizes will also be awarded to school children for winning an essay contest on nutrition which was recently sponsored by the Newmarket board of health. Prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be presented to winners in three public school age groups by a member of the board of health.

Hydro debenture For improvements To local system

The hydro system in Newmarket is expected to be improved and expanded this year. An estimated $15,000 will be spent on replacing and rebuilding part of the system which will eliminate problems of low voltage which consumers have experienced in the past, according to Ontario hydro officials. Another $26,000 will be spent to install new meters during conversion to 60 cycle.

A by-law is now before the town council to debenture for $60,000 for the hydro the cost of which will be borne by the Newmarket commission. Three officials of the Ontario hydro commission attended a meeting of council last Monday night to explain how the money is to be spent.

Some members of council questioned expenditures involving the standardization of electric power. "The conversion of power to 60 cycle was not supposed to cost the consumer anything. It was to come out of hydro reserves," said councillor Frank Bowser.

It was pointed out by the hydro representatives that many of the meters in the Newmarket system had been installed nearly 20 years ago and that it would cost more to convert them than it would to install new ones. During conversion, part of the debenture money will be used to install the new meters. The total capital expenditure for this year is estimated at $52,400.

The improvement in the system of power distribution will involve the installation of new transformers, poles and the lines.

Chairman of the Newmarket hydro commission, Fred S. Thompson, said that the surplus over the past five years since the commission took over the system from the town has been $61,523. All that surplus has gone back into plant expansion, he said. It was also pointed out that there are 400 more hydro consumers which necessitates the expansion of the plant system.

The hydro finances in the same manner as large industry, it was explained. The surplus is an insurance against emergencies. A storm could damage a whole section of the power system and if it were not for large surpluses, the cost of restoring the system would have to be carried by consumers in the form of higher rates.

CHANGE PARTY DATE
The Trinity young people's group of Aurora held an emergency meeting at the beginning of the week, on finding that the Aurora Black Hawks were to hold their home game with the Wallacburg on the date they had planned for their Easter Frolic at the hall. They decided to postpone their party to Tuesday, April 18.

Mitchell denies report Of Rec. appointment

An erroneous report in a Toronto paper this morning said that "Red" Mitchell of Aurora had been appointed to the position of Lindsay recreation director. Mr. Mitchell denied the appointment to the Era and Express this morning.

"No person had the authority to make the announcement," he said. Mr. Mitchell indicated that the offer had been made to him but that he has made no decision about accepting. He said that there is a strong possibility that he would not accept the offer.

"I wish to make a denial of the report which appeared in the Toronto paper," he said.

Urges opposition Against Toronto Expansion

"There is not a person in the north part of York county who could not be opposed to Toronto's plan for amalgamation in some manner." That is the opinion of Newmarket's deputy-reeve J. L. Spillette. Mr. Spillette has been a listening representative for northern municipalities on the special committee of Toronto area reeves and deputy-reeves to consider amalgamation proposals.

"The county fact finding committee report has revealed that Toronto's plan would at the least double the cost of operating a newly formed county of northern municipalities," said the deputy-reeve.

At Newmarket council meeting Monday night, Mr. Spillette proposed that all the reeves and deputy-reeves from the county areas not included in Toronto's amalgamation plan be invited to meet in Newmarket to discuss amalgamation. "There hasn't been enough interest shown among the northern communities about amalgamation although this city plan would have a serious effect on all of them," he said.

The deputy-reeve said that the attitude of Newmarket and other northern municipalities should be defined officially as being opposed to Mayor McCallum's amalgamation plan.

The York county auditor's report which was released last week by the county fact finding committee shows Newmarket's estimated tax levy after a Toronto plan amalgamation would be $35,644, double the 1950 levy of $17,825. The county mill rate for every municipality remaining in the county after the city has annexed the southern municipalities would be doubled according to the auditors' estimates and they have been defined as minimum estimates.

The reason for such a heavy increase in costs is attributed to the fact that the county would be left with only 15 percent of the present population and 15 percent of the present assessed property. This small percentage would be forced to bear a large percentage of present county costs. Seventy percent of present county roads alone would be left in the hands of the new county to bear the costs of maintenance and construction.

Quoting from a reliable authority who, he said, has made a study of Toronto's expansion in the past, Mr. Spillette said that it is physically impossible for Toronto to absorb another 400,000 people.

On page 5 of this issue of The Era and Express is a report on the alternative proposal of a county metropolitan plan.

Optimists victors In challenge game With 'Roar Men'

Yea Optimists. Challenges usually mean heap big peck of trouble for someone and fun for all. Certainly this was true of the Optimists-Lions challenge hockey game last night. It was fun for the spectators and heaps of grief for the Roar men. The Optimists proving the Lions weren't big game hog-tied 'em and bagged 'em 4-2.

The Lions, so we're informed, are supposed to have a tail-twister. The Optimists must have bought him off for it was they who were scooting about like scared rabbits. Fact is if it hadn't been for the shot-blocking of Stan "Broda" Smith the red light back of the Lions' cage would still be blinking. "Broda" Smith, waistlines identical got so worked up in his work that at one time he had the net turned around and the Optimists nearly got a goal via the back door.

With a huff and a puff the Optimists started strong and finished the same way, huffing and puffing. Bev. Riddock got away shot one and goal one in 29 seconds. Ken Russell made it two while Aub "Elbow" Marshall and Denne "Ezzinleki" Bosworth looked on from the sin bin. Fighting sentences, Jack Luesby scooped in the Lions' first goal. He's ye editor of the Lions Bulletin and just had to have something to say.

Matt Walsh and Fred Speer gave the Optimists' supporters more chances to exercise their vocal chords. Then Howard Brice hoisted the Lions closer to a successful run on a penalty shot. What no assist? Referee Bob Peters got that. Jack Hamilton didn't dare make the stop as "Butcher" Brice threatened him with the meat cleaver. Bad man was Ken "Banker" Flett who made so many trips to the sin bin he had the combination before the night was up. Stars (many seen 'em, few got 'em) like we said were Stan "Broda" Smith while upstairs Donnie Cameron and Moe Hall went patrolling on the wing like a couple of milk men on the Park Ave. route. Both camps reported little damage though the Lions suggested that Joe Dales herd the Optimists away to "Whiskers" Dales' office for a saliva test. "All our end men were missing, preparing for the minstrel show while our players spent too much time on their ends," was the way the Lions accounted for their demise.

NATURE STUDY

The other week I cut an article out of the daily paper entitled "Bird Land" in which the author tells of the coming session of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists' annual summer nature school. This will be their 12th, and it is scheduled for the first two weeks of July.

This year the region chosen for the summer's activities is the region around Balla Lake, near Huntsville, and anyone knowing
Camp Billy Bear, or Limberlost Lodge, and Algonquin Park, will wish they had qualifications entitled them to apply for preference on the list of fortunate ones privileged to go.

The list must of necessity be limited, and preference will be given to school teachers, Scout and Guide leaders, librarians, officers of naturalists and outdoors groups, and I do not qualify under any of these titles.

I'm just a plain, common garden variety bird and nature lover.

But oh, just fancy what a summer holiday it will be to those whose names are selected by the committee.

Such an opportunity to spend a pleasant holiday in the woods of Muskoka, with congenial associates, while receiving expert tuition in natural history, for Professor Alan F. Coventry of the Department of Zoology, University of Toronto, will head the project, with a staff of specialists in the various fields. And everything will be taken care of, instruction, board and lodging at a reasonable over-all cost.

NICE TO THINK OF

Well—it is nice to think of, at any rate, and to be there in imagination if not "in person."

For we have stayed in that region—in fact—at Billy Bear Camp, and a more suitable section of Ontario for such a project I can't imagine. It is certainly wild around there. You will have, no doubt, recollections of Limberlost Lodge, also in winter, for the former Headmaster Joe McCulley of Pickering College used to take the students there for their annual skiing trip. And I am sure they had plenty of snow, at any rate.

In the old days, the trip to Limberlost Lodge, and further along to Billy Bear Camp was not exactly a joy-ride as regards smoothness, but it must be much improved after the years since we first took the trip. You need stout foot wear, and sensible clothing for an outing in that region, so you won't miss out on any trips, for you can't depend too much on motor traffic and you need to be a good walker.

To hunt birds, and small wood creatures, in their native surroundings, you must be equipped for wild-life. The joy of locating rare birds and flowers and plants may not appeal to everybody, but that is the kind of holiday I have always enjoyed. I scarcely need tell you that, for I can scarcely write an article without some allusion to nature.

DELIGHTED BY BIRDS

If I have a new bird come to breakfast, I am delighted, and have to say so. When the lovely cardinal birds come and the robins I get such a thrill I can scarcely wait to tell somebody. Once I told about seeing a family of little bunnies dance in the moonlight and somebody wanted to know if I were imagining it all. I saw a cute thing the other day. This time it was a squirrel. We have lots of squirrels around here and this year they were around all winter. This cute little black fellow has been accustomed to finding some nuts in a paper bag and so the other day he came hopping along and found a paper bag caught in the cedar hedge, and naturally thought he'd found some nuts inside. He managed to get the bag out of the small cedar hedge and worked away till he got inside. No nuts. If ever you have seen disgust registered—well that small creature was a sample. He sat up, and did he tell the world! He scolded and chattered and squealed and squealed—you'd have thought it was a power sewing machine or something—was he ever mad!

But the family of bunnies—we had quite a time with them.

"Ang," one of the specials in a minstrel show before the war, came on the stage trying to sell a rabbit he had in a crate. Nobody wanted to buy a rabbit. Well I understand the daddy of that family of cute bunnies was that same rabbit, given to a small boy in this neighborhood—it got away, found a mate and set up housekeeping. Oh were those small bunnies ever cute! Yes, until they started to eat everything eatable in all the gardens around here.

But we really did see those baby bunnies dance in the moonlight.

YORK JUNIORS ACTIVE IN CLUB WORK

The department of agriculture announces that boys' and girls' club work for the coming year is getting into full swing with a large number of boys already having made application to join one or other of the various clubs which are being formed.

The organization meeting for the York County Grain club is being held at the agricultural office, Newmarket, on Thursday, April 13, at 2 p.m. In this project each boy is required to secure registered seed for one acre of oats, treat against disease, sow and care for the resulting crop, keeping a simple record of cost of production. Those boys who would like to get in on this worthwhile project and have not yet secured their seed, should contact the department of agriculture at once as arrangements are being made to have it available at the meeting.

This year the Tractor club is being formed in Markham twp.
with headquarters at Victoria Square and the organization meeting will be held shortly. As in past years calf clubs are being formed at Sharon, Markham, Woodbridge and Schomberg and application forms to join these clubs can be secured from the department of agriculture, Newmarket.

In all cases except the Tractor club,

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

A farming friend of ours has just emerged from a battle with bureaucracy and although the shooting is over, the smoke has not sufficiently cleared to determine whether victory is indeed his.

Our friend has a bush on his land and undertook last month to clear out a few trees—nothing much, just the trash and deadwood. Being a conscientious sort, he went to the Workmen's Compensation Board so that his hired man would be protected in event of accident. He received, at the best, dubious satisfaction from the board, and several gross of forms to fill out.

There followed a lengthy correspondence by which it was established just what a "few" trees amounted to. In the meantime, having been told that such an operation meant that his hired man fell under the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act, he wrote to the office at Barrie and in due course received another several pounds of forms to fill out.

Reading the forms one night, he saw some fine print which indicated that since it was part of the farm operation, he was exempt from the insurance payments. He wrote the office to that effect. In the meantime he was being bombarded with questions about sub-contractors, truckers, size of the payroll, number of thousands of board feet, etc., and etc.

It seems that he had been classed as a major operator. Again he wrote to correct all this but the paper flow, once begun, is not easily stopped, and forms continued to arrive. Our friend has been dumping them in his waste paper basket or using them to light fires. He has his "few" trees out anyway.

The other day, he received an invitation from some lumberman's association inviting him to attend the annual convention of the operators. "What a difference a few trees make," he mused.

That is quite a laurel that Allen Jackson has won for Newmarket with his prize-winning essay on What Canadian Citizenship Means to Me in the contest sponsored by the Canadian Legion. Allen's essay was judged best in the province by Dr. Dunlop, head of the University of Toronto extension courses.

What adds lustre to Allen's work is that the essay was written under examination conditions. The topic was placed on the examination paper and those who chose to write on that subject had the option of also entering their work in the contest. That Allen could write such an excellent essay under the pressure of an examination greatly enhances his achievement. Congratulations, Allen.

We think too that a word of congratulations to the Newmarket branch of the Legion would not be amiss. Their sponsorship of the contest should be encouraged.

We have heard it said that the weather has never been quite the same since the government took it over, a fable which takes on the ring of bitter truth when one looks at the dwindling coal pile in the basement. Like a good many others, we imagine, we've been nursing the remains of our winter stock with a cold but merciful hand. We are not going to be bullied into buying more coal because the weather refuses to abide by the date and that's final.

At least it was final. Now we have a cold in the nose so we guess we'll have to get more coal.

It ain't fair.

The Editorials:

Pollution of Holland river

Citizens were told by several candidates at Newmarket nominations that one of the pressing problems for 1950 was the construction of a sewage disposal plant. The absence of action on such a project so far may have dulled the memory of these statements or minimized their importance. If such be the case, we submit here the highlights of a report made by provincial department of health officers on pollution of the Holland River.

Samples were taken from the river from a point where the east branch crosses Yonge St. at the Aurora water works to a final sample at the locks at Holland Landing, 11 samples in all. Quoting from the report: "All samples show a high degree of pollution. The dissolved oxygen was generally low—too low to support any normal fish life in the stream. In fact the stream at several points was practically a nuisance."

With reference to the site of the final test, on the Thompson property at the Holland Landing locks, the report observed that natural purification "had proceeded to a point where conditions were beginning to improve. As the survey was made after a period of very dry weather (Sept. 15, 1949), there is every reason to believe that in times of normal flow, conditions must be even worse."

Again, quoting the report: "Conditions on this stream are such that remedial measures should be instituted without delay."

Newmarket is growing daily and the volume of sewage discharge into the river is correspondingly increasing. Steps are being taken to deal more effectively with the discharge of waste into the river. Newmarket, however, has yet to initiate any sort of action.

County levies doubled By Toronto annexation

Toronto cannot pay its way on its present assessment. That is why it has proposed amalgamation of the suburban municipalities. Other arguments are raised on behalf of amalgamation: the need of land for houses, more efficient police, fire and other municipal services. The municipalities involved have answered these arguments with counter-proposals which would provide the housing and services. Toronto has paid them little heed. It is being driven to amalgamation by its desperate need for more tax revenues.

If Toronto is permitted to absorb ten suburban municipalities and parts of two others, what of the rest of York county? The answer is given in a special report of the York county auditor. The municipalities which are left will have to pay at the very least double their present county levies to maintain a county administration. They will have to pay a good deal more to finance any special county project such as increased hospitalization, or reforestation programs.

Eighty-five percent of the county population and assessment is included in the area which Toronto proposes to annex. York county's 1950 budget is $1,460,000 and revenue is $200,000. After annexation, a minimum budget of $404,585 would be required against an expenditure, on present levy of $17,800. In other words, while assessment and population would be decreased by 85 percent by annexation, expenditures would not be decreased proportionately.

Toronto needs the suburbs to increase its own tax revenue. The price of this benefit to Toronto is doubled county taxation among the remaining municipalities and a reduction in status to that of a "poor" county. Toronto could have avoided its present plight if the provincial and municipal administrations had had the foresight to limit its growth instead of encouraging it. Now Newmarket, Aurora and the rest of the municipalities outside of Toronto's clutch are being asked to pay double their present levies so that Toronto can be relieved of its financial embarrassment.

The pity of it is that if Toronto is successful, and we sincerely hope it is not, this is going to be repeated. If Toronto's growth is still further encouraged by approval of amalgamation, in another 20 years, what is left of the county will again be reduced with a corresponding increase again in county levies. With a belief in the success of their present amalgamation proposal, Toronto's planners are already rewriting their master plan to make it so.

Federation Criticized

We have no comment to make upon the criticisms of the Federation of Agriculture policy which appear in a letter printed in this issue of The Era and Express.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Some of the criticisms parallel those we have raised. With other criticisms contained in the letter, we disagree entirely. To avoid misunderstanding among our readers, however, we should like to restate our attitude towards the Federation.

We believe the Federation of Agriculture is a good organization for farmers. We believe every farmer should be a member. We support its growth because the farmer needs such an organization to present the farm point of view, because it has accomplished a good deal for the farmer already and is in the best position, of all farm organizations, to do still more.

We do not feel, however, that this support of the Federation of Agriculture commits us to automatic endorsement of all federation policies and decisions. The federation is, after all, a public body and no more immune to error than any other public body. It could, with the best of intentions, commit the worst of mistakes. Criticism of federation policies should never be confused with criticism of the existence of the federation any more than criticism of the government should be confused with criticism of the existence of governments.

The criticisms contained in the letter, as strong as they are, do not constitute a valid reason for refusing to join or support the federation. Whether its policies are right or wrong, the farmers need the federation. If you believe federation policy is wrong, join it and do what you can to correct its policies. If you believe federation policy is right, support it.

Conservation report

The select committee of the provincial house on conservation presented its report three weeks ago. The timing was too perfect to be all coincidence; since the report appeared with its recommendations for flood control, for holding water on the land, reducing erosion, maintaining water tables—some 87 major recommendations in all—Ontario has been swept by floods which in some districts, set new records in height and damage.

Elsewhere in this issue there is a summary of the highlights of the report which have immediate application to this area. They appear under three headings, reforestation, farm conservation and control of water resources. The report would encourage reforestation in waste areas such as are found to the east and west of Newmarket, suggests a system of demonstration farms where the techniques of holding water on the land and preventing soil erosion can be shown, urges the establishment of local authorities such as the proposed Holland River Conservation Authority.

Although the report was prepared by men who are farmers or who are in close contact with farmers, we doubt if all their recommendations will be immediately accepted. That is less important, to our way of thinking, than that the spirit in which the report was prepared be acknowledged by all. In the concluding paragraph of the report, the committee says: "The hope of this committee is that Ontario will accept a conservation program worthy of the name while yet there is time, and that we may show our intelligence and vision by taking action before, rather than after the event, so that desperate emergency measures of reclamation and rehabilitation may never become necessary in this province."

Nature has clearly shown, in the realm of flood control and water conservation if no other place, how necessary it is that a conservation policy be inaugurated. The report, however comprehensive, will serve little purpose if its recommendations are not given the test of practice. If they are wrong, they can be corrected. But let there at least be an immediate start on a provincial conservation policy.

Poverty profession

Last week, a letter to the editor drew attention to the reference made by a member of the provincial legislature to teaching as "a poverty profession".

Teachers' salaries are not high when the importance of their job is remembered. There is general recognition of this fact. What limits remedial action is the manner in which school salaries are paid.

A teacher is considered as a municipal employee and his salary is paid from municipal taxes. When tax revenues are limited, salaries are limited. Provincial grants assist the payment of teachers, but fundamentally, a teacher is paid according to the willingness and ability of a municipality or school section.

The teacher is one of the most important influences in a child's life. Unless improved salaries can be provided, either by higher taxes or grants, the inevitable logic of a "poverty profession" will prevail: our children will simply not have the teaching they should.

Office Cat reports

Catnips By Ginger

There have been many theories about why the clock on the post office tower stopped. Some said that it was through neglect in winding. A few claim it was caused by the explosion of atom bombs in Russia. I say a pigeon laid an egg in the works.

When I came to the office Monday morning I looked up and saw the hands at 2.40. My friend the merchant was sweeping off his sidewalk. He stopped, squinted at me through his bifocals and said, "See that clock up there?"

"It's stopped," said I. "It is an evil omen," he said. "The last time it happened I developed stomach ulcers and there were new uprisings in Asia. When the clock stops it is an evil sign. I fear something drastic or gastric is about to happen."

"Fret not, old fruit," says I. "You are revealing an unwarranted belief in silly superstition. Superstition belongs to the dark ages. You should not let yourself be worked up by harboring such childish tricks of the mind."

"I'm convinced that it was the work of the supernatural," said the congenial manic depressive. "Maybe it was the spirit of some old Newmarket citizen who lived long ago. Maybe something was done here he didn't like, a bad law maybe, and he has returned to vent his wrath. Possibly it was a historical figure in ghost form."

"Such as whom?" "Sir Benjamin slept here once. Maybe that's whom." "Well, can't think of what he looked like but maybe he did have a face which would stop a clock. He only stayed over night though and I can't think why historians put so much stock in his visit here anyway, I said.

"How dare you!" stormed the merchant. "Sir Benjamin was a great man and he slept here once and that is a great historical honor to this community of ours!"

"Yeah?" I said, heating up some. "What did he do that was so great. Who was he anyway. Can you tell me that?"

"I dunno. Can't think what he really did but his name sounds genuinely historical. Can you tell me?"

"No." Sir Benjamin was abandoned. So my friend the merchant and I decided to inspect the clock personally. We climbed up inside through a trap door. All we could see were gears and axles but we didn't hear much as a rasp from Sir Benjamin's ghost. It was windy and dreary up in that tower. I had a feeling the merchant was nervous.

Suddenly every hair on our heads was raised. A tremulous clang shook the cosmos. "Doom tocsin!" thought I. "A poltergeist!" screamed the merchant.

The tower had belched forth the hour. The clock had started again. My friend's scream of "Geronimo!" echoed down below as he plummeted through the trap door paratrooper style. I pursued hotly and we both gained the safety of the ground floor in seconds.

White faced and panting we continued about matters of consequence with strained nonchalance.

There is no doubt it was a pigeon who laid an egg in the works.

The Top Six Inches

Stormed in on the farm in winter, we have a chance to observe how smart our stock is. Our six cats sit in a row while the cows are being milked. As soon as we start to strip the cow at the last of the milking, our cats start to give voice.

They are a little out of tune at times. They have not had the training they should have had. We cannot hope to compete with Isabel's cats. Her cats live in the house and sleep on silk cushions while the best our cats get is the straw behind the cows.

When we get the milk separated and take the skim milk through the feed room to the pig pen, we hear all the notes of the chromatic scale from low to high C.

Then the veal calf breaks loose and nurses all the cows in the line and there is a real chase to get it tied up again. We had a family of black squirrels in our barn and pheasants fed in the yard in the winter but since the neighbor boy bought a gun, they both have left. We have to put hay out for the rabbits to eat instead of our young apple trees. By the looks of the rabbits' tracks, they must hold a convention around the building every night.

The snow plow goes through at night and the farmer does not hear it. The mail man does not leave the mail because the mail box is not clear. It is not nice to miss the mail in the country.

On the radio a young lady was trying to improve on the mule train song. The noise she made! If a mule ever heard a sound like that, it would start and bray like when mess call was blown in the army.

We had a nice little mule in our horse lines. No one knew where he came from. He was not on our strength. This mule would kick himself free of any harness ever put on him and "salvaged". Cheerio.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

An Aurora Opinion

RAY WILLIAMS

Aurora Editor

Aurora, like so many towns since the war, has grown considerably. New sub-divisions, an artificial rink, approved new high school and a proposed west end public school are all progressive developments within the past two years. It was inevitable, situated as it is on Yonge St., that Aurora should feel the pangs of growing.

With the proposed amalgamation pushing Toronto's city limits within a few miles of our outskirts, Aurora must realize that the invasion of industry is a certainty. Yet there is an element of opposition to progress among our residents. Fear is expressed every day by small groups of citizens that Aurora will soon be inundated by that horrible menace of more and more factories.

Old timers express the opinion that Aurora will lose its pleasant "small town" atmosphere.

For those who wish to retain quiet rusticity we would suggest they buy lots at Kettleby. If it would appear that we are stretching our imagination too far, remember that today Aurora looks like Muddy York did at the end of the last century. If our suggestion of the Kettleby lots is not taken seriously, just think of Muddy York today! "Toronto the beautiful" with Yonge St.

again a sea of mud as the march of progress brings the subway project nearer reality.

We wager a bet (must be the influence of the recent Irish Sweep Stakes) that those whose births were printed in The Era and Express won't celebrate their 20th birthday before Aurora feels the breath of Toronto down its neck.

Instead of worrying about odors, the town council of the near future will be hurrying up work on pumping stations, extension of sewage disposal and grading roads by the mile rather than the block. "And just where are these new streets to be opened?" asked the old timers. Aurora can have an amalgamation program of its own. On second thought Kettleby is a bit too close for those desiring country atmosphere and peaceful retirement, better investigate Sunset Ridge, Aurora's future suburb.

YORK COUNTY

In Review 1615 - 1949

This is the first of a series of articles on the history of York County, edited by Hugh Griggs, Mimico, from information compiled during the past four years by W. G. Goddard, staff member of Weston Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. York County celebrates its centenary this year.

In September, 1615, Etienne Brule accompanied by 12 Indians journeyed down the Toronto Carrying Place from the west branch of the Holland River to Lake Ontario. He was the first known white man to use the Carrying Place and to see Lake Ontario. He arrived a few days ahead of Champlain, who first saw Lake Ontario in the vicinity of the Bay of Quinte.

An egg-shaped stone, with the date "1641" cut into it, was found on Lot 24, Concession 5, Vaughan Township, and is now in possession of the Royal Ontario Museum.

The downfall of the Huron missions took place in 1650, according to the records. The Iroquois swarmed across Lake Ontario and drove the Hurons northward to Georgian Bay. As the beaver disappeared in the area south of Lake Ontario, the Iroquois were free to cross the lake and trap in what are now the lake districts of Ontario. Here they established villages. Ganetsekwagon at the mouth of the Rouge River was one and Teiaigon at the mouth of the Humber was another.

In 1660 the French began using the Toronto Carrying Place to travel from Montreal to Michikimackinac, for they found by following this route, the journey was shortened by ten days.

The first white men to remain in the vicinity of Toronto for an extended length of time, were: M. de Fenelon and M. d'Urfé, two Sulpician monks, who spent the winter of 1668, there.

Our New Canadians

This is one of a series of biographies of New Canadians who have located in the Newmarket district. Fictitious names are used because some of them still have relatives in Europe and fear they will suffer retaliatory measures.

This series on New Canadians who are settling in Newmarket-Aurora district has to a large extent been concerned with immigrants of Central European extraction. Their stories have all struck a common note, that of flight from political persecution to the freedom and security offered by Canada.

Our new Canadian of this week's story is Jan, who arrived from Holland only a short month ago. A middle-aged man with four sons of adult age, Jan is the veteran of two wars. In the second world war, he was an underground agent whose organization helped allied flyers return to England.

Jan had been employed as an electrician by the Edison Company in Northern Holland for a number of years when the second world war began. War was not a new experience for Jan. During the first world war, he had been mobilized in the Dutch forces, standing guard against a possible violation of Dutch neutrality.

In the second world war, he was too old for army service but his four sons were mobilized in the short but gallant resistance of Holland against Nazi invasion.

Jan served in the underground until taken by the Germans as a slave laborer to Germany where he was kept until the end of the war. Returning home, he found his family had moved to another town. One son came to Canada a year ago and is happily located near Newmarket, and Jan and his wife joined him a month ago.

Jan's hope is to make Canada his home and eventually bring over the rest of his children and their families. His wish is to establish himself as an electrician.

The customs and manners of Canadians are no surprise to Jan who was adequately briefed by the glowing letters his son wrote when he first came out here. Then too, Canadian soldiers in Holland had told him much of their country.

Jan doesn't think there is much of a future for the working man in Holland but he has great expectations in Canada. Then too, Europe having gone through two world wars is in a nervous state today and its inhabitants seem to feel that the present interlude is only an uneasy peace before a third world war.

But in Canada, Jan and his wife are happy, useful residents who, when they are able to, will take out their citizenship papers.

The Red-Dominated Czechoslovakian army has banned the singing of Western songs, especially those "expressing the corrupt life of the capitalist world." "Home on the Range" displays a dreadful interest in ownership of

Oppose Toronto plan

County Scheme Gives Answer

The many amalgamation proposals involving Toronto and York county municipalities have been reduced to two: Mayor McCallum's plan to amalgamate 11 areas and annex parts of Scarborough and Etobicoke and the Toronto area committee's proposal of a unified metropolitan county.

A special committee of reeves and mayors of the municipalities involved in Toronto's amalgamation proposals has been sitting since early in the year. Deputy Reeve J. L. Spilllette, Newmarket, has sat with the committee as a representative of the northern municipalities which, while not directly involved in amalgamation, will be greatly influenced by amalgamation decisions.

When the McCallum proposal for Toronto's annexation of suburban municipalities was placed before this group, it voted against it, only Mayor McCallum and Mayor Norris favoring it. The alternative, a county metropolitan scheme, was approved.

10-3 (Mayors McCallum, Norris and Jackson opposing it.) Why was the McCallum plan rejected and the metropolitan county proposal approved? In effect, here's what the committee said:

The metropolitan county plan would achieve the advantages claimed for unification but with none of the objectionable disadvantages of the Toronto plan of annexation. There could be unification of essential services; development, including arterial highways, could be planned. Existing municipalities with their individual community spirit, would not suddenly disappear. Furthermore, taxpayers in the proposed annexed areas who now enjoy considerably lower municipal charges than Toronto, would continue to have some say about the size of their tax bill.

What is the metropolitan county plan?

At present there are 26 municipalities in the county of York. All are represented on the county council which meets three times a year at Adelaide and Church Sts. in the city itself. The county provides certain essential services, such as the construction and maintenance of roads, highways, and magistrates' courts, Children's Aid Society, etc.

At the present time each municipality pays a share of the cost on the basis of its total equalized assessment. Toronto, while a part of the county geographically, operates independently, although certain arterial highways and the high and civil courts are financed and administered jointly with the county.

The committee proposes that the present county council system be extended to include the city as well. Toronto and the other municipalities would retain their entity and their separate councils, but the supreme governing body would become the county council.

The committee envisages the metropolitan county assuming such services as water supply to the various municipalities who would then distribute it as they do now.

Trunk sewers serving more than one area would become county responsibility; local sewers could remain with individual municipalities.

Local areas could still do their own garbage collection but have large county incinerators for the whole area.

Local improvements could be left with local councils but the development of arterial highways could be in the hands of the metropolitan county council.

On this point, the committee emphasizes that planning, including arterial highways, could be carried out by a metropolitan county council without restriction by local boundaries. Under the Toronto plan for annexation provision for planning can only be made after the fact.

Perhaps it would help out if Newmarket merchants would join in our protest against this discrimination, for the first raise was only applicable to this section of the Gray Coach route; the approximate five-cent raise on all the routes has become a 200 percent raise here and to the disadvantage of both Newmarket and Holland Landing.

The fare to Toronto from Holland Landing, a distance of about 30 miles, is now $1. The fare to Newmarket, about four miles, is 30 cents.

County levies doubled if Toronto plan passed

A special York County auditor's report shows that if Toronto's amalgamation proposal is passed by the province, county levies for the remaining municipalities in York county will be doubled. This, it was cautioned in the report, is a minimum estimate and is placed only on those county functions which are required by legislation.

This, if York county (after amalgamation) undertook a special project, the county levy to municipalities would be greatly increased (see editorial on Page 4).

Letters to the Editor

The editor—Could we express our protest regarding the unwarranted raise in the fares of the Gray Coach Lines bus from Holland Landing to the town of Newmarket. About two years ago we rode to Newmarket for the same fare as the present C.N. railway, i.e. ten cents.

Then, after a work bus service was started, the fare was doubled to 20 cents for one way. Now as from last week, our fares are 30 cents one way.

The town of Newmarket merchants have derived a lot of benefits from the people of the Landing and now we are confronted with the choice of paying extortionate bus fares or buying in Aurora or Bradford, as both of these towns are on the highway and are not affected to such a large extent by the raise of fares.

Perhaps it would help out if Newmarket merchants would join in our protest against this discrimination, for the first raise was only applicable to this section of the Gray Coach route; the approximate five-cent raise on all the routes has become a 200 percent raise here and to the disadvantage of both Newmarket and Holland Landing.

The fare to Toronto from Holland Landing, a distance of about 30 miles, is now $1. The fare to Newmarket, about four miles, is 30 cents.

"Would you believe it?"

To extend and improve telephone service in Newmarket, it is taking over 2,000 miles of wire - and that's in addition to the thousands of miles already installed. Most of this wire will be out of sight underground, sheathed in sturdy, damage-resistant cable.

When all the work is finished, sometime in June, there will be telephone service for most of the families on our waiting list, as well as individual lines for many more.

Keeping up with the telephone demands of both town and country is a challenge we welcome, for our aim is to provide the best possible telephone service for all who want it, when and where they want it.

Dismiss charges in Pugh, Beckett mishap

The charges against the driver of the car which struck Gordon "Ginger" Pugh and Thomas Beckett on January 31, were dismissed in Newmarket court today. Magistrate Earl Hand said in dismissing the charges that there was no case against the driver, A. Campbell McIntyre of Toronto.

Witnesses said that the garbage truck under control of Ginger Pugh and Thomas Beckett was parked double. One witness referred to the truck as being parked in the middle of the road. Photographs, taken immediately after the accident, were introduced as evidence and showed that a car was parked between the garbage truck and the curb.

McIntyre was proceeding south when he lost control of his car on the slippery road. His car hit Pugh then Beckett and swung completely around before coming to rest against the side of a post on the east side of the street. McIntyre was charged with careless driving.

The injured men are both in hospital in Toronto.

KETTLEBY

Miss Nancy Greensides entertained several of her little friends on Tuesday, April 4, at her birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Greensides.

We were all sorry to hear Mrs. W. Gilham has been taken to the hospital for a major operation. Our prayers will be offered for her speedy recovery.

Birthday greetings to Mrs. C. Wilson whose birthday was April 11.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. E. Haines who celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary on Monday, April 10, and to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Black who will celebrate their 38th wedding anniversary on Friday, April 14. Many more happy celebrations to you all.

A special Good Friday service was held in Christ church on Friday, April 7, when a collection was taken for Jewish missions.

What a joy it must have been to God to see such a well filled church when so many of his children came to return thanks for the precious gift of eternal life won for us by our Saviour's death and resurrection, and to take the Holy Sacrament in memory of Him. Can we not give Him this same joy every Sunday throughout the year by being in His house regularly every week? We were sorry some of our most faithful members were unable to be with us owing to sickness and advancing years.

A beautiful hydrangea placed on the organ by Mr. H. Sibley was in memory of his wife. Another hydrangea placed on the altar from the Ladies' Guild in memory of all members who have passed on, was afterwards sent to Mr. Bob Archibald who is recovering from his recent accident. The beautiful Easter lily was sent by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beatty.

We were glad to see so many visitors present and hope they will worship with us when next visiting Kettleby.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McLaughlin and daughter of Lindsay were guests at the home of Mr. McLaughlin's father, Mr. J. McLaughlin, for the long Easter weekend.

Services next Sunday, April 16, at Christ church will be: Sunday-school 2 p.m.; evening service 3 p.m.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

All three Easter services at St. Paul's church, Newmarket, were well attended. In the afternoon, in place of the regular Sunday-school, there was a special Easter service for the children in the church. During the service the Lenten self-denial boxes were collected, each child in turn placing their box on the collection plate at the chancel rails. The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and Easter and callalilies.

The Woman's Auxiliary members accepted the invitation of the Evangeline branch of the W.M.S. to be present at their meeting Tuesday evening to hear a former resident of this town, Miss Lediard, give a talk on her experiences as a missionary to Japan before the war; and yesterday they were guests of Sharon W.A. The W.A. is busy today completing arrangements for its W.A. annual spring tea being held tomorrow in the parish hall. ## PRaise 'HASTY HEART'

Of the motion picture, "The Hasty Heart," Parents Magazine says, in awarding it their Medal of the Month:

"The story is an adroit mixture of sentiment and comedy, capably written and enacted by a topflight cast, Ronald Reagan, Patricia Neal and Richard Todd. It's a 'natural' for discriminating audiences and the young Scotch actor, Richard Todd, on the strength of his moving performance, may well become a North American favorite. Well recommended."

Other comments: "So good it tops the play"—Louella Parsons. "A new star is born"—Richard Todd. He gives the greatest performance of the year.—Hedda Hopper.

Gloria's flying too high

Gloria, teenager, has let success go to her head—with the result that she has become intolerably self-satisfied and conceited. Gloria has scored a number of successes lately—highest marks, winning essay, leading role in class play, etc. All the attention she has been receiving as a result has obviously turned her head to the extent that she has lost her previous charming and popular modesty of attitude and action and has assumed a nauseating and obnoxious superior air.

At home, no one can tell her a thing. Her parents used to encourage her by praising her efforts and assuring her that some day she would be at the head of her class. At this juncture in their family relations, the parents wish they had been less ambitious for their daughter. It is to be hoped that Gloria soon comes to her senses.

At school, Gloria's teacher foresees the day when Gloria will have to forsake her present pedestal so while extending congratulations, she counsels Gloria. She tells her to bear in mind that while she may continue to strive for perfection, she should never be deceived into believing she has actually reached it. Those who are deceived with such an illusion have already taken the first step in retrogression. After all, there lies only one way to go from the top and that way is down.

Before the breach between Gloria and her former close friends widens further, it is to be hoped Gloria will stop feeling so superior and resume congenial relationships with them.

Experiences beyond the realm of adolescence reveal that worthy goals, rewarding in last, inner satisfaction, aren't achieved by lording it over others in competitive enterprises, but rather, by co-operating with others in a spirit of good fellowship.

THE HOMEMAKERS

And maple syrup to go with it

No product of Canada is perhaps so typically Canadian as maple syrup. When the nights are still frosty, days are warm and the snow is melting, sugar makers tap the maple trees and collect that delicious sap which is one of nature's finest sweets. While the flavor of maple syrup is quite unique, it is delectable when eaten with breads, cakes or fruits in season.

To most people maple syrup is a favorite treat, but still, an old standby with pancakes, waffles or hot breads "smothered in butter and lots of maple syrup."

There are, of course, many ways in which maple syrup may be used in making cookies, cakes, puddings, pies and icings but just as a plain syrup on foods, it has no equal.

The following recipe for Maple Marshmallow Sauce is delicious when served with blanc mange, baked custard, rice pudding or cottage pudding.

MAPLE MARSHMALLOW SAUCE
½ cup maple syrup
few grains of salt
6 marshmallows
1 egg white

Bring maple syrup to boiling point. Add salt and marshmallows, cut into pieces. Stir constantly until marshmallows are melted. Pour slowly over stiffly beaten egg white, beating constantly with a spoon. Continue beating until cool. Yield: six servings.

DORIS VANDENBERGH WEDS KEN JOHNS
The marriage of Doris Eileen Vandenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Vandenberg, to Kenneth Addison Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Johns, all of Newmarket, took place on Wednesday evening, April 12, at the United church manse, Newmarket, with Rev. Henry Colton officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a powder blue street length dress, navy straw hat, navy accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses. Miss Ann Vandenberg, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore a spring wine dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The best man was George E. Johns, Schomberg, brother of the groom. Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families and friends took place at the Club 14, Newmarket. Mrs. Frank J. Vandenberg received wearing a navy blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations, and she was assisted by Mrs. A. F. Johns who wore a navy blue flowered dress, navy hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

For travelling the bride donned a spring wine coat belted at the back. Following a short trip the couple will reside in Newmarket.

READING CLUB
Open house will be held by the Newmarket Reading club in the Sunday-school room of Trinity United church on Friday evening, April 21. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy this social evening.

Guest speaker will be A. J. Carson who will address the group on Great Britain's able Leader of the Opposition, Winston Churchill.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

Easter, the joyful season of the Christian church, has come once again to the world. In small hamlets and in the largest cities, the bells sounded forth the glad tidings, calling the people to worship. For all who were willing to hear and to accept there was the wondrous message of the resurrected Lord.

Once again as the churches throughout the Christian world were filled for the beautiful Easter services, clergymen prayed for peace and called on Christians to unite in a strong living belief in their religion as the safeguard against Communism. In these times of troubled unrest and indecision people sought and received a re-birth in faith and a hope resting in the symbol of new life which is Easter.

In Newmarket, as elsewhere, the churches were heavy with the fragrance of Easter flowers. Altars were decorated in restrained simplicity or banked in profusions of bloom as is the custom with each individual church gathering, but from them all rang forth the sound of special Easter music. Congregations joined in the celebration of Easter in song as familiar hymns of alleluia were sung. Choirs had prepared for this day through repeated practices, practices which had never seemed tedious for no one could tire of singing the joyous Easter anthems.

Even the radio programs were attune to Holy Week with "St. Matthew's Passion" being presented on Wednesday night and the Pop Concert of the Toronto Symphony orchestra on Friday evening given over to sacred music. Both programs were outstandingly beautiful. Various religious plays were presented during the week. Friday night, the Ford theatre did "The Robber" and shut-ins who were compelled to miss their Easter services were able to enjoy the church services over many radio networks.

For us, where Easter and the re-awakening of nature come hand-in-hand, it is a simple matter to interpret the one in terms of the other.

The miracle of spring is ever wonderful. A speaker whom we heard recently said that if spring only happened once in every five or ten years we would run excursion trains from the cities to the country so that all could see and admire this rarity. But, because it is a yearly experience we accept it in the same complacent manner as we do the many other marvels of nature.

The coming to life of the dormant trees; the return of the birds; the bursting into bloom of the tiny snowdrops and crocuses and the many, many other activities of nature which spell spring.

Bunnies and Bonnets
The Easter bunny and Easter bonnets came in for their traditional share of attention this past weekend. Old Man Weather was up to his tricks again so that more than one young lady had to put on the winter-worn coat and look longingly at the smart new suit which must await more "suitable" weather. But not so the Easter bonnet, for they were seen as defiant assurances that

The Common Round...
 By Isabel Inglis Colville
MYSTERY

Human nature seems to crave the mysterious. Countless books are written about so-called supernatural happenings while ghosts, witches and vampires give to many a tale a nice creepy sensation—especially if they are read in a well lighted and well warmed room!

Some wonder why we read mystery stories but there is a very simple reason back of the habit—these tales, if they are any good, are a puzzle—and who doesn't love a puzzle? One tries to follow simultaneously two lines of thought—the working of the criminal brain and the working of those on the side of law and order.

But all these writings add up to one thing—the desire to penetrate the mysterious. I've read, not once but many times, of people turning to Buddhism and other esoteric religions because "the Christian religion was too simple!" And yet, can anything be more mysterious, more wonderful, more above the natural than the remembrance of the first Holy Week?

Who can penetrate the mystery of the Lord's supper? If we really believed the words we hear spoken over the bread and wine, would we approach the celebration with the cheerful nonchalance and lack of preparation that often characterizes our attitude. I still think as I was brought up to think that we should receive it kneeling.

What can we—with our hectic way of living which crowds too often into odds and ends of time the real things of life—know of the agony in a garden where the sins of the whole world were laid upon the heart of the God-man? Each one of us finds our own misdoings burden enough—multiply them by all those of the millions dead and living and the brain reels at the awful total. Not only that, but think of the horror of a perfectly pure soul experiencing that weight!

No wonder then the earth which knew its Creator, groaned and trembled and the sun hid its face when the very people who were chosen to keep God's word alive on the earth, nailed their Redeemer to a cross and invoked the awful curse, "His blood be on us and on our children!"

But Easter follows Good Friday for what tomb could hold the Maker of the universe!

All over the world it is a time of rejoicing—a freeing from bonds. It was festival time in Israel for the Jews were celebrating the anniversary of their release from Egypt. Then as now the earth was celebrating her release from the bonds of winter. One can imagine that Easter morning of long ago, how the sun which veiled his head on Good Friday, shone with glorious warmth to welcome its risen Lord; how the flowers must have burst into bloom to form a carpet for the Saviour's feet and the birds joined their earthly chorus with the angelic alleluia which rang through heaven's courts.

What a faith ours is—and it's the only one which is the greatest foundation of love, which is the greatest thing in the world and the one we can carry with us when we go "beyond the veil".

 We saw something quite unique in a hat and purse for teenagers at Eves Ladies' Wear. The hat, cloche style, is in natural color corn straw trimmed with Dress Stewart plaid taffeta ribbon and a swirl of straw. The drawstring purse is in matching plaid taffeta. A very striking set that will look equally as well later on with summer clothes.

Daintily hand-smocked some have lace on the tiny puff sleeves and at the neck. Guaranteed to make every little girl look like a fairy princess.

 The answer for soft pretensions is Houbigant's Quelque. Fleurs hand lotion. It is a creamy, not greasy or sticky, soothing lotion, delightfully scented. Comes in three colors, pink, blue or creamy-white, $1.25 a bottle and may be purchased at Best's Drug Store.

 An extremely attractive dress seen in a shop in Newmarket is navy sheer with skirt opened to waist and a navy and white polka dot slip showing with every step. The belt and buttons are self covered and the white eyelet over net collar and cuffs give it that something.

A tip from Betty: If the neck of your favorite pullover is becoming stretched run a thread around the edge before you wash it the next time and it will fit snugly.

Congratulations
Mt. Albert and District
By HOWARD MORTON

The best news I have this week has been a long time brewing. I first heard of it when Phil Appleberg's store burned and I was only a youngster.

And then each time another building burned in the district the need for fire protection would be debated. Each time everyone agreed we should have the best protection available and something should be done about it... but nothing was done.

During the years Mount Albert obtained a wonderful park, tennis court, and a grand hall. Each of these were a tribute to the community and to the community minded citizens who worked hard on these projects. Each person in the district owes a personal debt of gratitude to the people who made these things possible.

Eleven years ago last month we lost everything we owned and more in the fire which destroyed our garage.

But we still had little or no fire equipment. This week the picture changed... This week the Bickle Seagrave Fire Fighting Equipment Co. of Woodstock delivered its most modern mobile fire fighter to the police trustees of Mount Albert.

This equipment was purchased through the untiring efforts of the police trustees of Mount Albert and will be a source of pride and assurance to those with property in the area.

If you appreciate the efforts of the trustees, and of the men who now form the Mount Albert and district fire brigade, you may show that appreciation, in a very practical manner, by leaving your contribution with the manager of the local branch of the Dominion bank or with Reg Willbee, the local postmaster and treasurer of the association. These funds will be used to build a home for this equipment and accommodation for the men who will give of their time to operate it.

Morton Bros., your local Pontiac-Buick dealers, are proud that a three-ton G.M.C. chassis was chosen as the basis of this modern fire fighter. We sincerely trust it may never be needed but feel extra security for our investment in the Mount Albert community now that we finally have real fire fighting equipment.

Hawks 5 goals up In Jr. C semis Play Saturday

Aurora Hawks took a commanding five-goal lead over Wallaceburg Yellow Jackets in the first game of their goals-to-count junior C semi-final round last night and barring a miracle and a complete reversal of form, the Aurora kids cut themselves a piece of the final play-off cake against Collingwood junior Shipbuilders.

Aurora goes to Wallaceburg on Saturday night and the Hawks, who have been good on the road all year, should be able to take care of themselves. Wallaceburg, a big rangy team, provided top-flight opposition and it must be remembered they have been standing idle for close to three weeks. The long trip, which showed its effect on the Kent county boys, would make the Hawks' job a tough one, ordinarily, but that five-goal margin looks mighty sweet right now, and of course it will take some mighty smart sniping to unruflie debonair Paul Maguire in the Aurora nets.

The game was a rugged free-wheeling one with Aurora exhibiting smoother work in close and referees Pearcey Allen and Al Woods were right on their toes to quell any uprisings. Both goalies played standout games, Martin in the Wallaceburg nets kicking out 53 shots, many tough to handle, while Maguire, although he had only 23 shots to handle, came back brilliantly after stopping a hard shot on the chin and in the last period he saved at least three particularly hard drives.

A break for the visitors at that particular stage might have made the ultimate story on the round different. Penalties played their part in two goals, Aurora getting one in the second with Guertin in the box and the lone Wallaceburg counter coming with "Gentleman John" Atkinson insurance vile. Al Celotto drew the lone misconduct penalty of the game, in the third, and Martin, the goalie, drew a misdemeanor award served by Armitage as he attempted to bash McGhee. Moe Petch, Aurora, was the badman of the night, getting four trips to the sin bin.

In the first period Laurie Thoms opened the scoring at 14.22 with Petch carrying the puck deep into the Wallaceburg area before passing. Don Gibson made it 2-0 as he cashed Grant Firth's pass at the pay-off wicket. It was a cosy first period for the Hawks who literally buzzed around the "Burgers" net. "French" Deschene's crew while having a fair share of the play, were disorganized inside the Aurora blueline.

"Toar" Hill with Aurora having the odd man advantage, roared through for a fine goal at 27.21 in the second. It was the only goal of the period, Martin spectacular, and Aurora's drives bogging down as Moe Petch made three trips to the cooler.

Master Ronnie Simmons, who has been making it a habit to come up with "insurance counters" in the play-offs, took War in the third. Mona scored a beauty for the visitors at 10.49 del's pass and scored at 45.05 with the manpower advantage, Guertin feeding him a nice pass-out from the corner. Billy Attridge climaxed a fine night's effort with a goal at 53.52, Collings who played a pestiferous checking game sending over the rubber from the left boards. Gibson climaxed the scoring as fired home a relay from Hill to Thoms.

A crowd of close to 1,200, despite an increase in prices, roared approval at every sign of Hawks' activity and despite the score, the game was much closer than is indicated. In any event the hometown fans wouldn't have cared how one-sided the game went.

The Hawks hope the week's rest since Simcoe will do the Shipbuilders no good. Aurora expects to leave by bus at 9.30 on Saturday. It's a long trip to make and the management would favor an over-night stay if working conditions were right. The employers involved have been very considerate all year and such lads as Bill McGhee, Ron Simmons, Grant Firth, Toar Hill

The Spitties brought home the Trolley League championship last Monday when they steam-rolled to a top-sided 10-1 win over Sutton "Greenshirts" here. The victory, third in a row, swept the Trolley League cup right into their laps.

The Greenshirts were but a shell of their former greatness. Lamont, Jack Anderson, Dougie Missing the roll call were Geo. Brandon, Roger O'Dell, Cros. Brady, and Ellis Pringle, Sutton "stone-waller" who has had to sit out the complete series. The Greenshirts had only ten men including two juniors, John Leary and Dick Shannon.

It's doubtful if the Pringle men, even with a full deck, could have come close. The Spits were hungry for goals, streaked a lot of ice under their skates, tossed the puck around with authority and completed their chores in front of the net with just the right amount of "you can't keep us out." Nine hundred fans were in attendance and stayed around long enough to see the Spits receive the Trolley Trophy, presented by Prexy John Hines.

The Spits spilled the Greenshirts on the seat of their britches early and kept 'em there with three goals in a matter of a minute and a half. Bill Mabbett scored the first at 4:23 after accepting a blue-line relay from Deb. Cooper. A minute later, as Stan. Smith switched his front combo, Normie Legge waited until the tail end of a scramble to pot a second pay-off shot. Bill Johnston 15 seconds later scored with a speedy rush that carried him right into Deke Tupling. "Fink" Tunstead sped away on a lone rush right up to Tupling's doorstep, Tup refused to open the gate on Fink's first hoist, brushed aside the rebound, but wasn't equal to the other two whacks our winger got in after circling the cage. That put the Spits in the driver's seat 4-0.

Keith Dunn sandwiched in the single Sutton tally at this point, a screened 40-footer that whistled by Oje Tunney and spoiled his shut-out. Harvey Gibney, after being passed into the clear, made it 5-1 before the scrapers went about their work.

The Spits came along with three in the middle frame. Harvey Gibney finished off a nice three-way attack with Myles McInnis and "Swiftly" Todd for his second counter. Todd followed this up by bulling his way through the Sutton defense for another. Don Smith with Bill Johnston and Normie Legge the help-mates, raised the Spits lead to 8-1 as the second period had seconds to go.

Deb. Cooper bulleted a pass to Bill Mabbett to give the Queensville flash a chance for his second goal of the game in the third. Normie Legge set up the final tally, slipped a pass from back of the net to Don Smith. "Smitty" had little to do but tip it into the side pocket.

Dominant figures on the losing side were Doug. Ross Keith Dunn, Ken. Davis and Ken. Tupling.

TO VOTE FOR 'GENTLEMANLY' MOST VALUABLE

Two trophies are still up for decision in the Trolley circuit. These are the Dyer Trophy to go to the league's most gentlemanly player and the other, the Brading Trophy, to be turned over to the league's most valuable player. Balloting on these two important questions is to start this week.

Eligible to cast a ballot, according to league rulings, are newspapermen S. S. McKenzie, Bradford, Vic. Sheppard, Sutton, Ab. Hulse of Aurora and Geo. Haskett, Newmarket, and the coaches and managers of the four Trolley League teams, Harold Rogers and Bill Mundell of Aurora, Ken. Davis and Ellis Pringle of Sutton, Geo. Carson and Lewis ReRocco of Bradford, Stan. Smith and Mickey Smith of the Newmarket Spitties.

All the above have been requested to name a first and second all-star team. It is hoped that all players making the first and second all-star teams will receive a league crest for their efforts over the season. As soon as all ballots are in the hands of the league secretary, Geo. Haskett, announcement of the results will be made.

Hawks to Wallaceburg Saturday

We weren't kidding last week when we said Aurora Hawks had a bye to the C finals. Definitely that was the promise of the O.H.A. before the Lindsay series started. On Friday, the O.H.A. ordered Aurora to meet Wallaceburg or else.

Collingwood had complained of its trip to Seaford almost as long as to Wallaceburg, and three long trips to Simcoe. Aurora might have beefed too, but it figured the lay-off wouldn't do the team any good and it might as well try to take Wallaceburg in its stride. It's a goals-to-count series and as you read this, you'll know just how good the Hawks have to be on Saturday night in Wallaceburg.

The dope favors Aurora to take the series with something to spare. It's a matter of around 225 miles via the best roads from Aurora to the tobacco town. The Hawks will have at least a token delegation of support with them. If it gets past Wallaceburg the series with Collingwood will be a best of seven affair. The first game is likely to be on Tuesday next. You can probably count on the series going the limit with a deadline of May 1.

The Hawks hope the week's rest since Simcoe will do the Shipbuilders no good. Aurora expects to leave by bus at 9.30 on Saturday. It's a long trip to make and the management would favor an over-night stay if working conditions were right. The employers involved have been very considerate all year and such lads as Bill McGhee, Ron Simmons, Grant Firth, Toar Hill

John Stuart brought 21 steeds into Woodbine last week under trainer Ince Stott and is ready for another big year. Double Briar, Bunt Line, Watch Wrack and all the rest have wintered well but chief interest naturally enough is focused upon the four plate entries, who will soon be reduced to two for the 24th.

The winter books rate them as follows, for straight, place and show: Seven Duke, 10-1, 4-1, 2-1; Lord Valentine, 12-1, 6-1, 3-1; Em Em H (once owned by Harry Lahman), rates the same odds although a filly. Tinderrill, another sleeper, rates at 30-1, 15-1 and 8-1. On the records both Em Em H and Tinderrill have better money returns and placements on the other two. Actually only McGill rated at 4-1, 2-1 and 1-1. Unionsville owned by Carr Hatch and quoted at 8-1, 4-1, 2-1 and Bonaville, owned by E. P. Taylor of Argos fame and wagered at 6-1, 3-1, rate better than Seven Duke and they have real records behind them. We regard Em Em H as a real possibility to fool them all, but the clockers' reports will soon give some indications of things to come.

Conservation report Applies to conditions In North York

A select committee on conservation of the provincial legislature heard briefs, examined evidence, questioned farmers, lumbermen, sportsmen, tourist resort operators all last summer and into the fall. Three weeks ago, the committee tabled its report. Certain aspects of the report have an immediate bearing upon Newmarket, Aurora and district. A summary of these highlights follows:

Conservation on the farm

The committee wants to conserve the farmer. One of its recommendations was for provision of loans which would enable qualified young farmers to set up for themselves. The basis of the loan would be similar to that of the Veterans' Land Act grants.

"Many highly capable young men, unable to obtain the necessary financial backing, go to the cities and are lost to the agricultural industry. The industry and the nation as a whole cannot afford to lose this type of young man in increasing numbers," says the report.

The committee, in its report, paid homage to the Crop Improvement Associations. Choice of pilot and demonstration farms, to the committee's mind, would be in the hands of such associations. And the pilot farms would preach the doctrine of grass as a means of checking excessive run-off, of halting the depredations of scouring winds.

The pioneers of the province cut the trees to get land for crops. The trees had held back the water from melting snow and summer thunderstorms. When they were gone, the checking of run-off devolved on the grasses.

The committee recommended the establishment of pilot farms which would demonstrate such practices as contour plowing, strip cropping and nitrogen fixation through green manuring with legumes. The Crop Improvement Associations would be encouraged to select such farms, and assist in preaching the gospel of conservation.

The committee urged conservation and use of natural manures and green manures. Consideration was given even to the utilization of sludge from sewage disposal plants. On this point, the conclusion was that there was little immediate economic advantage in processing sludge. But the committee felt that all means of retaining and increasing fertility should not be overlooked.

In the overall program of tying the topsoil to its farm, the committee hoped the farmer would realize that conservation is not a matter of heavy capital investment.

The report stated: "Ontario farmers have been purchasing machinery at the rate of about $40,000,000 a year, but as yet no machine has been perfected that will serve as a substitute for good soil and crop management. Too often the case for soil conservation practices is associated with specialized and costly machinery. This committee prefers to emphasize that the techniques of conservation—many of which are new—can usually be applied with conventional farm implements, even with horse-drawn implements if need be."

Control of water sources

Water supply and control present the most serious problems confronting development in Ontario. The committee recommended application of a legal principle new to Ontario, though already administered in heavily populated U.S. areas—protection and control of subterranean water sources. Coupled with this recommendation, the committee urged an immediate and thorough study of possible plans for installing a grid system of water mains drawing from the Great Lakes and supplying localities through South-Central and South-Western Ontario.

"Two million people, or almost one-half our total population of 4,500,000, are dependent upon subsurface water supplies," the report stated. Sole limiting factors upon expansion of such cities as London, Chatham, Guelph, St. Thomas, Owen Sound, Woodstock, Stratford, Kitchener, Brantford and Galt was water supply. Of 354 municipalities with public waterworks systems, 110 were dependent upon wells for water supply.

"This growing demand by our large inland cities has caused serious difficulty for farmers adjacent to deep urban wells, which deprive the shallower farm wells of much water. It is the view of this committee that we cannot permit continued drilling of new wells without regard for the effect on other wells or the disturbance of reservoirs, about which so little is known."

Reforestation program

The committee was most emphatic in recommending a greater rate of reforestation. A program in Northern Ontario of reforesting four million acres over a period of 25 years was urged.

The committee would encourage private reforestation, too. The report suggests that nominal charges should be made for seedlings, since greater care in their storage and planting would be taken if the recipient had some investment in them. But tree-planting machinery and advice should be made available to Southern Ontario, the report advised, as a means of encouraging reforestation.

Further, private property owners should be charged full costs of planting unless they agreed to plant what they and their heirs would care for the woodlots planted under agreement with the province according to the terms laid down.

With its eye on such successful areas as the Vivian Forest in York, the Simcoe county plantation and the forests in Prescott, Russell and Carleton counties, the committee urged that municipalities should be given power to buy land for reforestation beyond their own bounds. Villages, towns and cities, it was suggested, should be able to reforest waste lands in other municipalities under agreement with the province.

Most ambitious recommendation was that the dominion and the province should enter into agreements for reforestation and preservation of state forests. Special study was advised for the reforestation of 3,600 square miles of the pre-Cambrian shield through Algonquin Park and north-eastward.

An applied provincial conservation policy would end situations like that shown in the picture above where a car drives through the spring floods.

Aurora firemen seek New engine, hose Estimate cost $15,000

The Aurora fire department has asked town council to consider the purchase of equipment that will cost approximately $15,000. The equipment includes a new truck, 350' of hose and a hose dryer as well as a siren alarm that can be installed after the hydro conversion.

LIBRARY WORK ALMOST DONE IN AURORA

The improvements to be made on the town library are almost completed. The building has been closed to the public all this week, but it is expected that it will re-open tomorrow.

When book-seekers walk in the building they will find a completely new appearance. The ceiling has been lowered and insulated which will take the hollowness away from the building. New fluorescent lights have been installed and before the installation the town council received advice from the Ontario Hydro as to the kind and number to put in.

The building occupied by the library is owned by the public school board. Several weeks ago at a council meeting it was decided not to re-decorate the interior of the building until the town could obtain the deed for the land and building.

The council contacted the public school board but has heard nothing officially. However, it is expected by most of the councillors that the public school board will give the property to the town. The councillors expressed a desire to completely building they will find a completely new appearance. The ceiling has been lowered and insulated which will take the hollowness away from the building. New fluorescent lights have been installed and before the installation the town council received advice from the Ontario Hydro as to the kind and number to put in.

One of the biggest eye-sores in the library building will remain. The pulpit at the far end of the reading room will not be moved until the fall. According to Mayor Alex. Bell, the council plans to put in a central heating plan before the winter and at that time they will have to put in a cellar. When the cellar is put in, the entrance to it will probably be from the spot the old pulpit now occupies. Mayor Bell did say though that some type of covering will likely be put over the pulpit.

The mayor also expressed the opinion that new shelving would be needed before the library can be completely modernized. He said the present shelves are too old.

Although all the repairs requested have not been made, the library board is satisfied with the job. One member of the board said that it was a step in the right direction while another member summed up the work as a good start.

Gradually the "little red school house" is disappearing and making way for larger, consolidated schools, to which children in the country ride by bus.

The machine age! Moscow has a street called "Ball Bearings Avenue."

A special meeting was held Monday night with the members of the fire and water committee of the town council and representatives of the volunteer fire brigade in attendance. The meeting was the result of a delegation which attended the regular session of town council on Monday, April 3. At the council meeting the fire department delegation requested that some immediate action be taken concerning the purchase of new equipment.

At Monday's meeting with the fire committee the fire department representatives explained the necessity of all the new equipment. The fire committee will present a report to council of the special meeting and it is expected the report will also contain a request for some immediate action to purchase the equipment for the fire department. The members of the fire and water committee are Reeve A. A. Cooke, chairman, and councillors Don Glass and Victor Jones. Mayor Bell also attended the meeting.

One of the fire trucks now used by the fire department is almost 27 years old and according to fire chief Harry Jones is of little use for an emergency. It is used mostly for pumping, he said. The other truck was purchased in 1944 and is now six years old and has seen a good period of service.

With the budget already presented and the mill rate struck it is felt that the town council should agree to purchase the new equipment, it would have to be debentured for. The new truck would probably not be ready for delivery until the fall, even if ordered right away, because such trucks are usually custom built.

The hose and the hose dryer can be furnished almost on order. The request for a new fire alarm siren will probably be tabled until the hydro conversion. If a new siren was installed now, the motor would have to be re-wound before it would be of use on a new power cycle.

30 TABLES AT LEGION EUCHRE

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Newmarket Canadian Legion held a euchre party at the Legion hall on Thursday evening, April 6. Mrs. Arthur Sheridan and her group convened the affair. There were 13 tables present. Refreshments were served at the close of the card game.

Winners in the euchre were: ladies' first, Mrs. V. R. Hutchins; men's first, Mr. Wes Longhurst; ladies' lone hand, Mrs. Wes Longhurst; men's lone hand, Mr. J. A. Germain; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Sim Graham; men's consolation, Mrs. F. B. Lloyd.

A draw for a basket of groceries was won by Mrs. Wes Longhurst.

Aurora Indians plan Dance to assist Hockey club's deficit

The Aurora Indians of the Trolley League are planning to hold a dance on Wednesday, April 19. The Indians, who finished fourth in the league and managed to snare the last play-off berth, floundered hopelessly at the gate this year.

The dance is being organized by Eric Smith, the goal keeper turned treasurer, and president Bert Mayrand. The entire proceeds of the affair, which has been named "The Sportsmen's Dance", will be used to remove some of the red ink in the Indians' books.

So far, the Indians have not turned to any person for help. They organized the team themselves and handled it throughout the season. Tickets will sell for 75 cents and the committee in charge has urged all sportsmen in Aurora to buy at least one ticket.

Aklavik has two months each year when the average temperature is 50 degrees above zero which means it is not cold enough to be classed as in the Arctic zone. Don't tell an Aklavikian that in January.

'Taxes too high' Cottagers complain To Whitchurch twp.

Spokesman for a delegation having cottages around Preston Lake at Vandorf made it known before Whitchurch township council in session on Saturday that they considered taxes on their cottages were far too high.

Said Mr. Hilliard for the group, "My own tax is three times as much today as it was ten years ago, and we get no fire protection, no schooling and live at the lake only three months in the year."

Reeve Ed Logan wondered if there is anything that hadn't gone up two or three times over ten years ago. Clerk John Crawford said the 29 cottagers at Preston's were not considered highly taxed, and couldn't be relieved of school taxes although they did not use the schools.

Fire protection is available to the cottagers, but because of their private entrance being impassable, and the lack of telephones at the cottages, fire service may not be too good, but the causes were within the province of the cottagers and not the council to remedy. The services are available to all, said Reeve Logan, and many farmers could not be reached just at present in case of fire because of bad roads and lanes. One lady in the group claimed her tax was once $5 and is now $21. Some inaudible voice said, "still a bargain."

The C.M.R. announced by letter that the owner of the Leary farm lots 5 and 6 north of Gormley refused to cut a clump of trees obstructing a view from the road of oncoming trains, nor would he allow anyone else to cut them. It pointed out how proceedings might be taken to force action, but not by the township.

Mervin Loucks, secretary of the trustee board for S.S. No. 1 informed council that his board was urging immediate action to create a township school area in Whitchurch. Since the change in the school grants came in, the section wanted council to make it possible to have the ratepayers cash in on them. Heretofore S.S. No. 1 had opposed a township board, Mr. Loucks informed the council.

The Oak Ridges Lions club sent a deputation to council asking advice on how they might get ownership of a certain piece of land on which the title is not good. The club wishes to establish a community centre in the township and sought this prop-

OVER 400 SEE TWO PLAYS AT N.H.S. NIGHT

Over 400 gathered in the auditorium of the Newmarket high school on Friday evening, March 31, for the annual high school night. J. W. Lockhart, principal, was chairman of the excellent program presented by the students.

HOBBY CLUB SOCIAL NIGHT 'GRAND SUCCESS'

Family night for the Hobby club in Sharon hall on March 28 was a decided social success, full of interest, entertainment and fun. About 65 people enjoyed a sumptuous "pot luck" supper on tables gay with spring flowers and Easter trimmings. Lloyd Balsdon led a sing-song.

After clearing the tables, the company was divided into seven Irish families for contests. Mrs. A. Balsdon convened the animal show providing huge white murphies to be made into miniature animals or hobgoblins by aid of toothpicks, hairpins, raisins, prunes and peanuts. The results were versatile and amazing, the judges had a difficult time deciding the winners.

Mrs. Herb Wright followed with a quieter 'floral wedding' contest, a bit tricky but good for concentrated thought. Mrs. Harry Walker cleverly managed group charades while Harry climaxed it. The hit of the evening was Mrs. John Faris' hat contest. Each group received a bag containing a hat, ribbons, roses, feathers, veils and pins. Then choosing a model they fashioned him accordingly. The result was astonishing and the prolonged applause proclaimed Herb Wright the champion. Winners received appropriate prizes.

Mr. Sheldon Walker tendered the ladies a hearty vote of thanks with the thought that such events should certainly come more often.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Price spent a couple of days in Toronto visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Davison.

Mrs. Ethel Harmon and Mrs. V. Shields spent Easter with Mrs. Armstrong at Burlington.

NEWMARKET AT FESTIVAL

Lighting, Queen praised by Wray

The Central Ontario Drama festival was held at Hart House theatre from March 27 to April 1, inclusive. In all, there were eight plays presented with the Newmarket Dramatic club performing George Bernard Shaw's one-act play, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets."

Winning play in the festival was "Awake and Sing" by the Belmont Group theatre, Toronto, and this play has been invited to the Dominion Drama festival to be held in Calgary in May.

Only two plays in the festival were of Canadian authorship — "King Phoenix" by Robertson Davis which was the opening entry on Monday night by the North Toronto Guild and John Coulter's "The Drums are Out" by the Arts and Letters club.

Other entries in the festival were "Death Takes a Holiday" by the Play Craftsmen, "The Damask Cheek" by Oakville Arts and Crafts Incorporated, "Therese" by the University Alumnae Dramatic Club and "Rope" by the Community Players.

The Newmarket entry was the only one-act play invited to the festival and since when less than three plays in any group are accepted there is no competition in that class, the Newmarket play was entered for adjudication purposes only.

Maxwell Wray, English actor and producer, was the adjudicator and in all saw 50 plays since his arrival in Canada in January. From these eight plays were selected for the Dominion festival.

In adjudicating the Newmarket entry which was directed by John Kudelka, Mr. Wray felt that the group had attempted a very difficult play, one which even a professional group might experience difficulties with. But he felt that it was the only play presented at Hart House which was correctly lighted.

Mr. Wray complimented Vera Brown, "The Queen," on her performance and said that although the costumes were not quite authentic as they were taken from pictures, they showed real community spirit and he was very pleased with the general results as he was with the back drop. Others in the cast were Harry Noble, John Struthers and Fern Russell. The stage manager was Don Cummings. The back drop was designed and painted by Fred Hagan and the costumes were made by the ladies of the Newmarket Dramatic club.

A large group from Newmarket attended the festival on Thursday night for the club's performance and again on Saturday when the Newmarket club provided the ushers.

About a dozen from town attended the nightly performances and felt that they had gained much to bring back to the local club. The Newmarket cast felt that the experience gained by entering the festival well repaid them for all the time and effort it had taken in rehearsals. Besides the festival itself the week was filled with receptions and parties in Toronto.

When you ask for a loan at the B of M...

you do not ask a FAVOUR*

WHEN the housewife calls at the grocery store and orders a supply of provisions, she is not asking a favour... she is buying goods for which she will pay on delivery... purely a matter of business.

So with your bank. It is a business proposition just as much as the grocery store.

The grocer deals in groceries... the banker deals in credit. And as the making of loans is one of the principal ways by which his bank derives its revenue, he is as anxious to sell his credit as the grocer is to sell his groceries. And like the grocer, the banker naturally wants to know that he is going to be paid for his goods... that his loans will be met when they fall due. That, too, is only good business.

When you have occasion to ask for a loan, look at it this way. Come to the Bank, not feeling that you have to ask a favour, but to offer the manager a sound business proposition which will be of profit both to you and to his institution.

Hundreds of thousands of Canadians in all walks of life have since proved

Yes, when you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour.

Federation policies Said 'worst enemy' Of farmer today

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture must accept its full share of responsibility for loss of markets and the inevitable economic adjustment ahead as most of its policies have been and still are out of harmony with the basic and urgent need of the dirt farming industry.

Super-imposed upon present day farmers the isolationist CFA is not democratically controlled by individual membership fee contribution but is organized on the principle of corporatism as evidenced by its tendency to enlist state authority and power to enforce the demands of its various corporate bodies and the arbitrary and non-constitutional method of collecting at least a portion of its finances.

Having already caused farmers heavy losses by its unwise and apparent everlasting opposition to margarine they are now being whipped up to demand a tariff tax on imported vegetable oils to protect the dairy industry and increasing cost of several manufactured products farmers have to buy. Present parity price floor is fostering the margarine industry at the expense of the butter trade and together with cheese subsidies, will delay further dairy industry progress.

The recent 20 percent egg consumption increase suggests what consumers would do with surplus whole milk if given the opportunity. The absolute embargo against a few dollars per 100 cheaper Yankee hogs invited the last wage increases and lost us to British and Yankee markets for pork products. The CFA has no inclination to resist tariff demands of labor and industry although there has never been any duty on tractors or any to speak of on farm implements since the Meighen administration granted this request of the late low tariff United Farmers' movement.

What is this CFA policy that has led farmers to a frustrated and unsound economic position exemplified in U.S.? Organized labor sparked by J. L. Lewis has over-reached its power securing more than its fair share of national income in the form of ever increasing uneconomic wage rates and shortened hours under the mistaken belief of spreading the work around, creating more jobs and purchasing power to buy farmers' products. Organized farmers have supported this and have themselves secured parity price floors to buy labor's scarce and dear products. Both these demands can only be sustained by high protected tariffs, restrictive customs, regulations and absolute embargoes. The CFA still maintains that uneconomic wage rates do not harm the farmers when the latter can be reimbursed by parity price floors and subsidies which are the chief plank in its platform.

What is the result of this "new tyranny" to unorganized consumers and overseas customers? Our economy is out of harmony with the overseas world. Our increased prices reduced value of C.R.P. loans by 55 percent and adverse trade balances have reduced our customers' gold and dollar reserves to inadequate levels and we have priced ourselves out of overseas markets which are rejecting both our manufactured and farm products because they can be purchased cheaper elsewhere.

The basic industry's most recent need, and therefore the whole economy, is the balancing of international trade accounts and dollar shortage solution—both one and the same problem which can only be solved by the creditor dollar-nations buying more from the sterling area and its dependencies. This involves tariff reduction, subjecting us to a world price level. To enlist the co-operation of farmers the CFA was purposely represented on the dollar-sterling board which had as its objective the transfer of a part of our purchases from our adverse balance of trade with U.S. to our more favorable British account.

Instead of giving both the farmers and the nation an inspiring lead CFA leaders are pulling in the opposite direction by refusing to accept necessary price reductions in good grace and have demanded absurd and impossible parity price floors necessitating continued tariff restrictions, the very instruments responsible for dollar shortage prolongation as Britain now has to do without interest earned on spent investments.

Parity price floors maintaining prices at arbitrary high levels run contrary to development of international co-operation and will create conditions in which the last state will be infinitely worse than the first adding to farmers' costs. Moreover surplus either dumped or destroyed cause serious repercussions abroad. To avoid flood surpluses price floors (not parity) when granted should be at a level to stimulate increased consumption, restrict production and move the incipient surplus to markets that need them with as small a loss to the taxpayer as possible.

Unlike the more self contained U.S. whose food exports comprise a very minute percentage of her total national income, ours are too large an item to be supported by our weaker, more dependent export economy and to be insulated from a world price level. Farmers' prices are usually last to go up, are always first to come down after an inflation and no government can prevent this history from eventually repeating itself without still more disastrous results to the farmer himself.

The wheat pool's disaster should be lesson enough to present day farm leaders not to repeat the same mistake, this time on an international scale in co-operation with others. Moreover, the CFA plan for distributing

CUBS DEMONSTRATE PACK ACTIVITY BEFORE MOTHERS

The members of the Newmarket Cub packs presented the program at the regular monthly meeting of the Scout-Guide Mothers' Auxiliary. Mrs. B. L. Sinclair presided at the well attended meeting which was held on Monday night in the Scout hall.

The Cubs gave a demonstration of their signs and badge work accompanied by a running commentary on the P.A. system by Cub Leader Bert Budd. Cub Leader Charles Wass gave a helping hand assisted by Scout Bill Armstrong. A quartet of Cubs sang two selections very heartily. The group showed great alertness and much enjoyment in its display which also delighted the mothers.

The summer camp for the Scouts and Guides is the immediate concern of the Auxiliary and all attention is being focussed on this project. It was decided to ask mothers and other interested persons having suitable kitchen equipment in excess of their needs to bring these contributions to the next meeting. Odd plates, serving dishes, large pots and pans, kitchen cutlery, gadgets, etc., will be very acceptable.

The closing meeting of the season which will be held on May 1 will be a special concert with entertainment and refreshments. At the close of the business session and program light refreshments were served and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise party was held for Mrs. Charles Brice, Newmarket, at her home on Thursday evening, April 6, when about a dozen friends and neighbors gathered to celebrate her birthday. An enjoyable evening was spent and refreshments were served by the lenders of the party.

Food surpluses is dependent on convertible currencies and will still continue to concentrate gold to U.S. until her tariffs are reduced and in this event would not be necessary at all. Impoverished nations would find greater virtue and security in half-starving themselves rather than part with all their gold reserves in fear of an extreme emergency.

To expect a politician to fulfill a pre-election promise of parity price floors without still more disastrous consequences is asking for the impossible. With the purchase of over 200 million dollars worth of machinery in 1943 and another enormous amount in 1949 most farmers are quite able to hang on until the slow and painful process of reducing the cost of things he has to buy is accomplished.

Such CFA policies as parity price floors and their associated evils are only prejudicing the agricultural industry, preventing the efficient working of democracy from fulfilling its intended purpose and dividing the dollar and sterling areas against each other when we should be strong and united against the common enemy. In so doing they are encouraging the political interests of those totalitarian powers vying against each other for world domination and aiming at the destruction of democracy.

A Former Dirt Farmer.

Beautifying yards Told by O.A.C. expert

John A. Weall, professor of Ornamental Horticulture at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, gave one of his informative and humorous "chalky talks" before a group of approximately 100 local gardening enthusiasts at a meeting of the Newmarket Horticultural Society in the town hall last week.

Presiding was the president, Arnold A. Reinke, who extended a word of welcome to members of the society and visitors. Special guests of the evening were veterans settled under the Veterans' Land Act. E. R. Donaldson, regional supervisor of the V.L.A., thanked the society for including the veterans in their meeting. Mr. Donaldson announced that the V.L.A. is beginning a development program to assist those veterans already established on small holdings with their landscaping and general gardening. He said that the district office welcomed such assistance as the Horticultural Society had rendered.

Prof. Weall was introduced by the president and thanked by the secretary, Don Cummings.

Mr. Weall was apprenticed to gardening in the Midlands and served in the First World War. He came to Canada in 1921 and from that date until 1946 was in private business in Toronto as a landscape architect. He went to the O.A.C. staff in 1946 and is in great demand throughout the province as a public speaker. He was accompanied by two O.A.C. fourth year students who have specialized in landscaping, Glen Reister and Don McLean. Both young men spoke briefly to the meeting.

As is his custom, Mr. Weall accompanied his talk on landscaping the simple, small home with a chalk drawing. He began with the newly erected home completely devoid of shrubs, flowers or lawn and as he discussed each point in landscaping, Professor Weall "planted" the required specimen in his chalk garden. This visual development of a property gave the audience a keener appreciation of the need of simplicity, harmony, proportion and restraint and the importance of the personal touch in successful landscape gardening.

Women's Groups endorse Re-organized hospital Aid

A meeting of the Women's Aid of the York County hospital was held in the agricultural board rooms, Botsford St., on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Rusty Rogers presided. The meeting was opened with prayer and closed by the singing of the national anthem with Mrs. J. O. Little at the piano.

Miss Thomas, superintendent of York County hospital, spoke briefly on the work of the Aid, welcoming its formation and offering her assistance and that of her staff. Miss Thomas said that the greatest need of the hospital was not for money and material aids but for the development of good will in the community to the hospital and a public recognition of the services provided by the hospital to the area.

The well attended meeting heard a report from Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards on the revision and adjustments to the constitution. The amended constitution will be presented for adoption at the annual meeting in the late fall. The membership convenor, Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey, gave a report of her committee which proved very encouraging. All women throughout the county who are interested in the work of the hospital are invited to join the Aid.

Representatives from many organizations were present and extended their endorsement of the re-organized group. Among those were: Mrs. G. E. Case, Red Cross; Mrs. Robert Yates, Tennis Club; Mrs. Beckett, Union St. Women's Institute; Mrs. George Osborne, Ladies' Lawn Bowlers; Mrs. Robert Bunn, Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion; Mrs. Fleck and Mrs. Vander Meer, Christian Reform church, Holland Marsh; Mrs. Southwood, Aurora organizations; Mrs. J. E.

The speaker deplored the prevalent festooned arrangement of evergreens which has become synonymous for foundation planting. He said that this mass produced type of horticultural adornment did nothing to create a picture and to beautify the home, the aim of landscape gardening. "Grow those things you personally like and keep in mind the trees, shrubs and flowers which will add fragrance and beauty not just for one season, but during spring, summer and fall will provide a three dimensional attraction to your home."

Following his landscaping of the front of his model home, Professor Weall drew a plan suggesting the division of space in the back area of the property. He dealt briefly with the choice of material for the perennial border illustrating again with another colorful drawing. To his fund of knowledge has been added a witty presentation which greatly appealed to the audience so that his talks were well received.

A question period concluded the meeting.

Oil makes a country strong

Try to imagine life without oil! Oil supplies one-quarter of all the heat and power we use . . . in home and factory, on farm and highway. It helps us live better.

For years Canadians have had to depend on foreign countries for almost all the oil they used. Now, after a long and costly search, big new fields have been found in Alberta.

The more oil we produce right here in Canada the stronger we will be. Already the new discoveries have made thousands of new jobs. Millions of U.S. dollars once needed for imported oil are now being saved by the new oil fields, and the prairie consumers are saving money too.

In order that Canadians may reap further benefits, Alberta oil must reach new markets. It must be moved to eastern Canada—2,000 miles away—where it must compete with oil from other areas. That means holding transport costs down to a minimum.

To bring Alberta oil east a tube of steel will span one-third of the continent—from Edmonton to Lake Superior. It is taking shape now. To carry the oil on to Ontario refineries, the largest inland tankers ever built are being constructed in Canadian yards.

There's a big job still to be done before the full benefits of the new oil discoveries reach all Canadians. But the job is being carried on with increasing benefit to all of us. Oil is strengthening the nation.

Bringing you oil is a big job

... and a costly one

About Canada's Oil—Last year Canadians used an average of 300 gallons of oil each. This is more, per capita, than any nation except the United States.

By replacing imports, Canadian oil production is expected to save 100 million scarce U.S. dollars in 1950; next year, $145 millions.

Imperial is building a new refinery at Winnipeg at a cost of $10 millions to process Alberta Oil.

The 1,150-mile pipe line from Edmonton to Lake Superior is being built by Interprovincial Pipe Line Co., which was sponsored by Imperial and in which Imperial holds a minority interest.

Bell Singers Magic To be heard April 28

Organized 11 years ago as an alumni girls' chorus, the Leslie Bell Singers who will be heard in a concert of choral music in the Newmarket United church, Friday evening, April 28, have earned an international reputation as an "a capella" group. Critics in Canada and the United States hail them as "unrivaled" for their superb ensemble singing, beautiful voices, versatile repertoire and for the freshness and charm of the choir itself. Indeed, the remarkable co-ordination of the Leslie Bell Singers and the genuine pleasure each member derives from participation in the singing group add to their overwhelming popularity.

A major contributing factor, of course, to the Bell Singers' reputation is the unique musical arrangements of Dr. Bell who possesses a rare combination of musicianship, diplomacy and discrimination. Recognized throughout the world as a leading arranger of choral music, Leslie Bell arranges all types of music for "a capella" or unaccompanied singing. Not handicapped, therefore, by the fact that fashion for the last three centuries has been to write choral music with accompaniment, the Bell Singers are not forced, like many present-day choirs who have endeavored to revive "a capella" tradition to confine their activities to the works of the early masters or to some specialized field such as that of Russian church music or the negro spiritual.

Last year, the Leslie Bell Singers enhanced their fame by receiving top billing on the Canadian General Electric program which is now heard for a second season every Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m. EST over the CBC dominion network.

Praised by listeners and critics alike as "radio's most distinguished musical entertainment," the Bell Singers are starred on the C.G.E. show with Howard Cable's orchestra, and baritone Charles Jordan.

The program planned for Newmarket: Part I: The Lord's Mrs. C. Walton, Mrs. R. Geer, Mrs. E. Blatchford and Mrs. H. Burns.

The United church choir wishes to announce a musical evening presented by the Riverdale United church choir of Toronto consisting of sacred and secular music Friday evening, April 14, at 8:15 p.m. in the church. Silver collection. Everyone welcome to attend.

Snowball girl wins Horse show honors

Lois Blum, 11½ years, won two firsts, two seconds, and two thirds at the Toronto Junior Horse Show at Ataj. Sifton's arena at Bayview and Lawrence Ave. on Saturday. Lois is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blum, Snowball. Lois also won the best fancy costume prize.

The show was held to raise money to send a team to the inter-city Pony Club Rally in Montreal. Lois has been riding seriously for the last two years and during that time has made quite a name for herself among young riders.

PINE ORCHARD

Easter Sunday was observed at the Union church with the service at 11 o'clock. Mr. Harold Middle delivered a most interesting Easter message. Special music was provided by the choir under the leadership of Mrs. G. P. Wood.

The evening service was largely attended. Mrs. E. Duchin of Weston sang a splendid solo. The play, "The Great Inheritance," was given by Misses Betty Sytema, Dorothy Ratcliff, Betty Hope, Messrs. David Preston, Stuart Starr and Howard Ash. The characters were: Abigail and Rhoda, two servants in the home of Tiesza and Abdon, daughter-in-law and son of Hannah, whose late husband had left Abdon his earthly inheritance. He is visited by Nicodemus who brings news of Christ's activity in Jerusalem. Final news of Christ's resurrection in the last act is brought by Cleophas who has met Christ on the road to Emmaus.

The interpretation of the characters was exceptionally well done and was a challenge to all present to do better work for Christ and the church.

The altar was beautifully decorated with Easter lilies, plants and flowers.

On Sunday, April 16, Sunday-school will be held at 1:50 and church service at 2:30.

Mr. James Hope has returned from hospital and is convalescing at home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pyle, Richmond Hill, and Miss Joyce Pyle, Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Pyle, Sr., Cedar Valley.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Boake on the birth of a son, Albert Edward.
